Uncle Sam's Long Arm Safeguards Americas

New World Nations Would Stand Shoulder to Shoulder Against Aggression Under New Version of Monroe Doctrine.

(Editor's Note—The United States isn't overlooking the chance that the western hemisphere might be invaded. Recent maneuvers in Texas, in the Pacific ocean and along the eastern seaboard showed that. And the Monroe Doctrine makes both Americas the concern of Uncle Sam. So the problem of defending this hemisphere has been investigated by Alexander R. George. He tells about it in three articles. The first follows.)

By ALEXANDER R. GEORGE
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

WASHINGTON—Two hundred and forty million Americans, standing shoulder to shoulder against aggression by any nation of the Old World—

That is the new version of the Monroe Doctrine. For it, the United States is trying to enlist the co-operation of all the American democracies. Because of it, the United States must consider the possibility in these troubled times of aggression against any part of the western hemisphere.

Under the old version of the doctrine, Uncle Sam alone assumed the responsibility of protection. But, after the Spanish-American war, many Latin-Americans began to view the doctrine and the designs of the United States with suspicion.

Morrow Paved Way.

Then in 1927, Dwight Morrow as ambassador to Mexico started sowing the seeds of a good neighbor policy by emphasizing that the United States intended to keep its hands off the affairs of the American states. To South America went President-elect Hoover, spreading more good will. To South America also went President Roosevelt, spreading more good will.

Last winter, spreading the idea that the United States can take care of its friends, as well as the idea of good will, six of the army's great flying fortresses flew in 34 hours to Buenos Aires, capital of Argentina, which is twice as far away as the European battlefields of 1917-18.

Consultation Pact.

Now President Roosevelt is considering another trip to South America and there has been talk of government broadcasts to offset Europe's propaganda programs.

TENSION GROWS

Ecuador Bolsters Defenses After Peru Border Clash.

QUITO, Ecuador —(AP)— Ecuador's frontier army sharpened its defenses today in the wake of a new incident of violence in the nation's 107-year-old territorial dispute with Peru.

Two Ecuadorian soldiers were reported killed and a lieutenant wounded yesterday in a clash with three Peruvian gunboats, along the River Aguarico in the northeastern portion of a vast jungle claimed by both nations.

The ministry of defense at once ordered troops to refrain from retaliatory aggression, but to "defend themselves with all their characteristic valor."

It was ascertained reliably that Peruvian troops were concentrating at Tumbes, near the frontier and close to the Eucadorean Pacific coast.

JUST AS STRONG?

Woodring Says Roosevelt Would Carry All But 2 States Again.

ST. LOUIS — (AP) — President Roosevelt, in the opinion of his secretary of war, Harry H. Woodring, is as strong politically and as popular as he was when re-elected by carrying all states but Maine and Vermont.

"If there was a national election tomorrow," he said, "the results would be the same as they were in 1936."

Killed 3 With Auto, Jailed Here

FUGITIVE ALSO ADMITS SENIOR HIGH LOOTING

Mansfield Police Obtain Two Confessions, Seize Tools for Safecrackings.

SAWED WAY OUT OF CELL

New Yorker Admits He Fled While Awaiting Sentence in Trio of Deaths.

Confessing he sawed his way out of a Wisconsin jail while he was waiting sentence for killing three persons with his automobile, Jevons Zalinsky, 30, of New York, was being held by Mansfield police today for Wisconsin authorities.

Zalinsky is charged in a warrant filed here with breaking and entering the Mansfield Senior high school. He confessed the attempted high school safecracking along with the Wisconsin jail break, Police Chief M. K. Bates said.

Will Waive Custody.

The chief said he would waive custody of Zalinsky when officers from Wisconsin Rapids, Wis., arrive in Mansfield. Two sheriff's deputies from that city are already on their way here, Bates was informed.

The chief said Zalinsky, who had first given the name of Harley Marmaduke, signed a confession after his fingerprints had been forwarded to Washington, in which he admitted staging the attempted safecracking at the school after he had robbed the library of $8 in change. He also confessed, Bates said, to similar burglaries in Piqua and Marion.

According to the man's story, Bates said, he had been convicted in Wisconsin on a first degree manslaughter charge in the connection with the traffic deaths of three persons After one unsuccessful attempt to escape, he made his getaway and fled to Terre Haute, Ind., where he said he purchased the machine he was driving.

Told of Safe Robbery.

Bates said he had information that a safe had been blown and robbed on the same day that Zalinsky made the purchase of the car.

DELAY LOOMS

Fight Over Wage Standards Snags Labor Measure.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Sharp differences of opinion over wage and hour standards developed today among members of a joint congressional committee, pointing to delay in final agreement on the legislation.

Although most committeemen appeared inclined to accept 25 cents an hour as the rock-bottom minimum wage, there was disagreement over how the ultimate goal of 40 cents an hour and a 40-hour week should be reached.

House conferees were reported standing by their measure, which would fix nationally uniform standards from which no industries in interstate commerce could be exempted.

BOMBS KILL 50

Japanese Planes Stage Raid On Canton Textile Factory.

HONGKONG —(AP)— Japanese bombing planes killed 50 persons in a Canton textile factory today and caused a great loss of life among houseboat dwellers along the Canton river.

2 INJURED, 50 FLEE FLAMES

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Two fire captains were recovering today from injuries suffered while they helped fight a three-alarm fire which razed a drug store, forced 25 guests from an adjoining hotel and caused damage estimated at $20,000.

An explosion in the basement of the Walk-on-Run company was blamed for the blaze. Dense clouds of smoke enveloped the Rol-Eddy hotel, next door, and guests were advised to evacuate.

Capt. W. C. Nicklaus suffered cuts and Capt. Frank Luckshaw was overcome by smoke.

THIEVES GET $1,700

MILITIA HEADS PARK PARADE

400 National Guardsmen Will March Sunday Afternoon in Dedication Ceremonies.

A military show, including a parade of 400 national guardsmen through the city, will launch formal dedication ceremonies for Liberty park over the week-end.

Army units from seven central Ohio cities, the McVey post, American Legion drum corps and an army band will parade east on Park avenue at 1:15 p. m. Sunday to start off the dedicatory program which will bring Gov. Martin L. Davey here as the principal speaker.

The line of march will be from the Legion home on Park avenue west eastward over Park avenue and the Ashland road to Central avenue, north on Central avenue to Grace street, then east on Grace street to the park entrance.

With James Brownscombe as master of ceremonies, the program at the park will start at 2 p. m. and will include dedication of the park flag pole by the American Legion, presentation of a flag to the park association by the Daughters of Union Veterans, dedication of the Frank Fisch memorial, and talks by Gov. Davey and other public officials and guests.

A diving exhibition, featuring state and local diving luminaries, will be presented in the park pool at 3:30 p. m. and at 5 p. m. tennis matches will be played on the courts in the park.

Concerts by the Prospect park, Senior high school and Madison township high school bands will be heard during the afternoon and evening, and at 7:30 p. m. Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston will officially dedicate the park to the city.

Officers Carry Off June Class Scholastic Honors

Mary Werner Tops 287 Senior High Graduates; Other Honor Students, Awards Announced at Exercises.

Two girls and one boy, all officers of the June graduating class at Senior high school, walked off with the highest scholastic honors at Class day exercises this afternoon in the high school auditorium.

In addition to receiving the top honors in a class of 287 students, the three were among 32 students named to the National Honor society and two were given honorable mention in the annual University club award and the annual award of the American Association of University Women

Girls Take First, Second.

First honors went to Mary Werner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Werner, 24 Euclid avenue, and treasurer of the class Second honor student was Bettie Houlette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs Henry Houlette, 57 Hoffman avenue, and secretary of the class, and third honors went to John Gano, president of the June graduates and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard A. Gano, 136 Sturges avenue.

The Frank L. Hansen awards of the University club, and the cash awards of the American Association of University Women, presented annually to the most outstanding boy and girl for the 1937-38 school year were presented to the same two students.

The two awards for the most outstanding girl went to Kathryn Fighter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Fighter, 492 Bowman street, and the awards to the most outstanding boy for the year went to Paul Smith, a member of the January class, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Smith, 178 Carpenter road.

Both Miss Fighter and Smith took active part in school activities during their three years at Senior high school. Miss Fighter was elected to the National Honor society and was given honorable mention for her scholastic work For the past two years she was STILL SECRET

Gas Hides Cause of Blast Killing 10 Miners.

SCRANTON, Pa.—(AP)—A barrier of debris and deadly gas held the secret today of an explosion which killed ten miners in the Eastern Pennsylvania anthracite field's second major disaster in two months.

State mine inspectors who donned gas masks and went with rescue squads 700 feet beneath the earth's surface to remove bodies and bring out six injured said the exact cause of the blast yesterday at the Red Ash vein of the Volpe Coal company might not be determined for several days.

State mine inspectors examined a possibility gas might have seeped in from abandoned workings nearby.

DIES IN CHAIR

Degenerate Electrocuted For Death Of N. Y. Girl, 8.

OSSINING, N. Y —(UP)— Lawrence Marks, a moral degenerate, was put to death in the electric chair shortly before midnight last night for assaulting and murdering eight-year-old Paula Magagna.

He was 49 and had spent many years in prison for larceny and impairing the morals of children.

SEIZE NOTES

Youngstown Police Get Messages for Marino Killer Suspect.

YOUNGSTOWN—(AP)—Notes to Herbert Ross of Cleveland, awaiting trial Monday on a charge of murdering Roy "Happy" Marino, Youngstown racketeer, were intercepted when three men brought magazines to Ross at the county jail last midnight, Sheriff's deputies reported

The deputies said the notes apparently were harmless, but they took no chances.

OPPOSES ROOSEVELT

WASHINGTON — (UP) — The house appropriations subcommittee, it was learned today, has decided to disapprove President Roosevelt's request for $500,000 to start construction of an experimental dirigible.

Renews Fight For Building Code for City

C. of C. Calls Meeting of Contractors, Building Supply Dealers.

Aroused over city council's failure to adopt a building code for Mansfield, the Chamber of Commerce today reopened its fight for regulations to cover building construction in the city.

Paul W. Williams, secretary-manager, announced that invitations have gone out to the various contractors and building supply dealers asking them to meet Wednesday, June 15, at the Southern hotel with representatives of the Industrial commission of Ohio.

Williams said the matter of a building code, which was submitted to council a year and a half ago by the chamber's fire prevention committee, would be presented to the group.

Referred to Committee.

The voluminous proposal, incorporating a model building code, was referred to a special council committee headed by Russell D. Porch, but thus far "apparently nothing has been done about it," Williams said.

He pointed out that Mansfield is the only city of its size in the state that does not have a building code. He added that the proposal submitted by the chamber had the approval of the Mansfield Trades council and the building trades council.

Plans will also be discussed for the launching of a publicity campaign to inform contractors and builders of their responsibilities under the industrial compensation insurance laws.

Williams said that numerous complaints have been received by the chamber that contractors have not been complying with state regulations regarding compensation insurance and that this matter would be discussed with them.

He added that under the state compensation laws should the contractor not comply with the regulations, that the property owner would be liable in case of accidents to workmen.

WINS PROBATION

Mailman Gets Chance to Repay Bowling League Shortage

His good record as a postal employe for more than 18 years won a three-year probation period today for David R. Buell, 41, of 28 Ruth avenue, who pleaded guilty in common pleas court yesterday to an indictment for embezzlement.

The probation was ordered by Judge C. H. Huston who disposed of the case in his office after conferring with relatives of Buell and officers of the bowling league of which Buell was secretary-treasurer.

Buell will be required to report regularly to Harry Crouse, county probation officer, and will be given a chance to repay the $417 shortage over a period of several months. He offered to make restitution when arraigned yesterday.

Indicted secretly a week ago by the county grand jury, Buell admitted embezzling the bowling league's funds over a five-month period.

CHAMBERLAIN WINS NEW TEST

Conservative Victor In House Of Commons Election.

LONDON—(AP)—The Chamberlain government won its second successive bye-election today when one of its conservative supporters was elected to the house of commons from the West Derbyshire constituency.

A trend of voters to labor leadership following Anthony Eden's resignation as foreign minister Feb. 20 appeared to have been halted.

Henry Hunloke, conservative, received 16,740 votes, according to a tabulation of yesterday's balloting here, and retained for the government a seat which has been traditionally conservative.

G-MAN'S HINT OF CONFESSION STIRS MIAMI

Prober's Statement Taken as Indication Developments for Solution Near.

Florida Hears Rumors That Fingerprints of Suspect Were Found on Notes.

BULLETIN

PRINCETON, Fla. — (U.P.) — Searchers discovered a blood-smeared fragment of cloth in a water-filled rock pit at Tavineir near the Florida Keys today. Federal agents sent divers into the pit in an effort to learn whether it might reveal the fate of kidnaped Jimmy Cash.

(By International News Service)

MIAMI, Fla.—An enigmatic statement by Miami's chief G-man today gave rise to fresh belief that a confession in the ransom kidnaping of Jimmy Cash, 5, had been wrung from one of the six suspects in custody.

The statement came from Arthur G. Rutzen, in charge of the Miami office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Weighing each word carefully, Rutzen said:

"I will not say there has been a confession and neither will I say there has not been a confession.

"It is quite evident that such a statement would precipitate mob violence if made public before the body is found or the child returns safely."

Causes Excitement.

The statement caused a new flurry of excitement here as 2,000 men pressed an intensive search over an area of 80 square miles for a clew to the missing boy's fate.

It followed varying reports that the boy had been found dead and that a suspect was in custody whose fingerprints corresponded to those on the notes demanding $10,000 for the boy's return. The ransom has been paid by his father, James Bailey Cash, sr.

Windsors, Married Year, 'Celebrate' At 1st Real Home

ANTIBES, France — (AP) — The Duke and Duchess of Windsor celebrated their first wedding anniversary today, working together on their first real home.

The ex-ruler of the British empire and the American-born woman for whom he gave up the throne were so engrossed in getting the Chateau de la Croe ready to live in that they planned no formal celebration.

They scheduled just another day of supervising alterations inside and outside the comfortable chateau, which they have leased for two years.

The Windsors, who are living at the Grand hotel while work on their home is being completed, drive their new American car a mile and a half each day to the chateau, carrying with them a picnic lunch.

They have been going hatless, she in navy blue and white sport dresses with white flannel coat, and he in double-breasted grey flannels.

HUNT POISONER

Sandusky Residents Search for Dog Hater; 9 Canines Die.

SANDUSKY — (UP) — City Dog Warden Arnold Whetstone reported to police today that two more valuable dogs had been poisoned in the city by a dog hater, who called the warden by telephone a few days ago and warned that more dogs would die "if they didn't stay out of people's gardens."

A total of nine dogs have been killed in the past two weeks. Police have been unable to trace the poisoner.

HUNCH CORRECT

Liquor Agents Find Booze Under Tub While Boy Takes Bath.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. — (AP) — Liquor tax agents were suspicious when they saw a small boy lustily scrubbing himself in a washtub in the backyard of a residence here.

Removing the lad and his tub, the agents found five quarts of whiskey cached in a hole underneath. They arrested a man.

Ford Sticks to Prediction That U. S. Faces 'Greatest Era of Prosperity'

Blasts 'Interests' That Would Like to Bring About Another War.

(By Associated Press)

DETROIT—In his first statement on public affairs since he returned home from a recent eastern trip that took him to Washington as a White House visitor, Henry Ford said in an interview today that nothing has happened in recent weeks to change his conviction that "we are going to have the greatest era of prosperity and happiness we have ever known."

Ford sat astride a bench in the mess hall of a boys' farm camp, not far from his home in Dearborn, and pointing toward the nearly 300 acres under cultivation by the young farmers, said:

"And it will come through a back-to-the-land movement."

Ford reiterated his criticism of "certain financial interests" which, he said, would like to bring about another war.

"Somebody once said that 60 families have directed the destinies of the nation," Ford said. "It might well be said that if somebody would focus the spotlight on 25 persons who handle the nation's finances, the world's real war makers would be brought into bold relief."

The motor manufacturer said veterans of the World war would have an increasing part in shaping the future of the nation's affairs, charged once more that some financial interests "seek to control food prices" and declined to discuss for publication his call at the White House.

URGES 30-HOUR WEEK IN MINING

UMW Head Tells Conference Mechanization Would Cut 98,000 From Payrolls.

(By United Press)

GENEVA, Switzerland—A. D. Lewis of the United Mine Workers of America told the world coal conference that mechanization of mines within a few years will cost the jobs of approximately 98,000 U. S. miners and advocated the six-hour day, 30-hour week to solve the problem.

Lewis, brother of Chairman John L. Lewis of the committee for industrial organization, declared adoption of the shorter work week would add about $95,000,000 annually to the coal operators' pay roll, an increase of approximately five per cent in the cost of production.

Present contracts between the UMWA and most of the nation's coal operators provide for a seven-hour day, 35-hour week.

More than 61.7 per cent of U. S. miners earned less than $1,000 in 1935, according to department of labor statistics, Lewis said. He added that 39.6 per cent earned less than $800 and 22.2 per cent earned les sthan $600. The average earning of all bituminous coal miners, he said, was $917.

GIVEN AWARD

Shiloh Grad Receives Highest Honor of Future Farmers.

The award of State Farmer, highest in the Future Farmers of America organization, was to be made today at Columbus to Richard Howard, member of the graduating class of Shiloh high school this year.

To be eligible for the award the student must have studied vocational agriculture for two years, rank high in scholarship and produce an outstanding home project.

Young Howard has raised from 400 to 600 chickens every year, and for the past two years has raised purebred Poland China hogs. In scholarship, he ranked second in a class of 25 at the Shiloh high school this year. He was class salutatorian.

The award, one of several to be presented to farm boys in the state, was to be made at the annual state convention of Future Farmers chapters.

FETE TONIGHT

Annual Madison Social To Be Held on Football Field.

The annual Madison high school lawn fete will open at 6:30 p. m. at the school under sponsorship of the Madison township Boosters club.

The event will be held on the football field at the rear of the school building. A concert will be given by the high school band directed by James Wendling, and park plan dancing will be held in the gymnasium. Arrangements for the event were in charge of committees headed by Roy Wilkins.

THEATER

ROBERT DONAT, one of the most popular of English cinema players, has been signed to an M-G-M contract under which he will make at least six pictures. Interesting news is that one of these will be "Good Bye Mr. Chips," casting of which has had producers worried for some time. He will also make "The Citadel." Both of them will be made in England with King Vidor going over for the directing. Donat, English born, was a private secretary before going into theatrical work in 1921. In 1932 he did his first screen work and followed with "Private Life of Henry VIII," "Count of Monte Cristo," the delightful "Ghost Goes West" and then "The 39 Steps." Only recently he appeared with Marlene Dietrich in "Knight Without Armor," an English film.

New Rogers Picture.

Those who saw the midnight preview Wednesday night of "Vivacious Lady" are extravagant in praise of the second non-musical picture Ginger Rogers has made. It opens Saturday afternoon at the Ohio and runs through the first of the week. Proving beyond question her ability as a straight actress in Stage Door, Miss Rogers comes back with "Vivacious Lady," possibly to show her followers that "Stage Door" wasn't just a fluke. And having proved her point she has gone back to make two more dancing musicals with Fred Astaire. Her current picture is a romantic comedy with James Stewart as her co-star. It's the rowdy story of a night club entertainer who marries a college president's son and keeps her man with all of her talents—not the least of which is the ability to slap, scratch, kick and bite harder and faster than her rival.

Jane Ranks High.

An interesting side light on the movie tastes of the American public was provided this year in the annual poll of the Motion Picture Herald in which two of 20th Century-Fox' starlets won places in the first ten box office bets. Shirley Temple was in first place again as she has been for three years, and Jane Withers, who made her screen debut three years ago in one of Shirley's first pictures, won sixth place in box office pull. Further proof of what the fans like is found in the popularity of Deanna Durbin, Freddie Bartholomew, Mickey Rooney, Jackie Cooper and the on-coming Bonita Granville. Jane Withers, although cast in roles that do not appeal to all types of fans, has barged steadily ahead with her career. Her latest film, "Rascals," which is currently showing at the Madison, has her in a gypsy camp, with Rochelle Hudson, Robert Wilcox, and Borrah Minevitch as her aids.

A Gal and a Pal.

A gal and a pal are the motivating forces behind most of the action in "Whirlwind Horsemen," latest of the Ken Maynard pictures, which will be shown at the Majestic today and Saturday. It deals with the story of a cow man who goes into strange territory to find a friend, and of course he meets a girl. From then on there is plenty of action, for in addition to winning the girl and finding the friend he cleans up a gang of raiders. Plenty of action will be found, too, in the second feature, "Air Devils," in which the United States angles for possession of a South Sea Island as a naval base.

Cowboy and Banker.

When a cowboy locks horns with the town banker for the affections of the town belle, you'd think that the banker would have all of the best of it—but not in "Paroled—To Die," the thriller which opens at the Ritz today for a two day showing. A bank hold up and murder, a trial and conviction, release from prison to wreck vengence on the guilty parties, are all tied up in this action drama which has Bob Steele for a hero. A new serial "Tim Tyler," and the romantic drama "Love Under Fire," in which Don Ameche pursues Loretta Young to the battle fronts of Spain, are also on the bill.

THEATER CLEANS UP TOWN

CALDWELL, Ida.—(U.P.)—A local theater virtually solved the city's "clean-up" week problem by offering a free ticket to a special matinee to every boy that brought in 10 old tin cans. The "receipts" exceeded 10,000 cans.

PREDICT 10-CENT STRAWBERRIES 'OUT' BECAUSE OF SMALL CROP

If you were one of the housewives who grew indignant at the price of the strawberries on your grocery bill this week, you will be interested to know the reason for that "25 cents per quart." Market men point out that the greatest part of the first crop of local berries was killed during the ice storm in May and that the crop is so small and berries so scarce that they are bringing an unusually high price for this time of year.

And while the berries will decrease some in price by Saturday, they will not, merchants predict, come down to the usual summer level of 10 cents a quart at any time during the season.

Pineapples, too, are above average in price now. The big Sugar Roll pineapples made their appearance this week. These are much larger and sweeter than the regular variety. Melons, which are uniformly good, are not particularly expensive for this time of the season, and any number of varieties may be found at the markets.

There are a number of varieties of berries, too; huckelberries from the mountains of Carolina, red and black raspberries, blackberries and blueberries. A few Georgia peaches may be found, but they are of the extremely early variety. Cherries and a few apricots will brighten the Saturday market.

The quality of green vegetables increases as the season advances and peas and beans are of better quality than they have been.

Okra, much in demand for gumbo soups, is coming in from the southern growers. Among the Richland county produce are radishes, onions, spinach, asparagus, and rhubarb. There are plenty of cucumbers and tomatoes of good quality, both the hothouse variety and those grown outdoors.

SCIENCE ROLLS ONWARD, PUTS ASHES TO USE

Building Materials Can Be Made From Refuse, Mellon Institute Finds.

(By United Press)

PITTSBURGH—A year's work in the new "Temple of Science" which houses the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research, has led to new conquests in the fields of both pure and applied science, according to a report by Dr. E. R. Weidlein, institute director.

For example, hard coal heating equipment has been developed to the point where the furnace will operate "for weeks at a time without any attention whatever to the fuel supply, ash removal, or damper settings."

The 218 scientists supported by the institute from March 1, 1937, to March 1, 1938, conducted experiments in everything from shirt collars to tooth cavaties to hydroxethylapocupriene — a drug which is proving useful in the treatment of pneumonia

Dental Research Extended.

Among other things, the institute's scientists have conducted worthwhile experinments in the field of dental caries or tooth decay.

It has been found, Dr Weidlein reported, that "modification of the diet of female rats during pregnancy and lactation affects the caries susceptibility of the young . . . indicating that nutrition plays a part in the formation of caries-resistant teeth.

"Proof that foods which promote decay do not necessarily initiate cavitation is provided by the demonstration that fermentable carbohydrates will not start dental caries in rats but will accelerate decay in existing cavities."

The young research scientists found uses for many things that in former years were discarded as useless. For instance, anthracite ashes. "Strong and attractive" building materials have been produced from them, and they are being tried as soil amendment agents.

Director Praises Progress.

Dr. Weidlein was enthusiastic about the progress made since the institute moved into its new $10,000,000 headquarters, donated by the late Andrew W. Mellon.

"The building has not only supplied adequate space, equipment and special investigational quarters," he said, "but has also given rise to a new enthusiasm and a greater desire on the part of the fellows to be successful in their work.

"For the first time, a group of private individuals who recognize the needs of an industry as a whole is co-operating in an effort to improve its status."

JAPS DONATE FIREARMS

TOKYO—(INS)—One month after a government plea for private owners of firearms to donate their pistols to the army and navy, more than 4,600 weapons had been voluntarily surrendered.

Cherry Hills Course, Site of National Open, Made to Order for Cooper.

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK — (AP) — That romance between golfer Horton Smith and Barbara Bourne, the sewing machine heiress, began at Augusta the year Smith won the Masters' tournament...Sad news for the bookies: Mr. Art Rooney, the "Pittsburgh Plunger," is reported heading east for the Aqueduct meeting next week and expects to have that $15,000 guarantee for "Whizzer" White in his pocket before the start of the fourth race on opening day. ...Ed Flowers, lanky captain of Michigan state's golf team, irons out those greens with No. 13 shoes.

Harry Cooper

* * *

Harry Long, pro at the Cherry Hills club, Denver, where the national open will be played, thinks the course is made to order for Harry Cooper...Long says the par 4, 470-yard 14th hole will give the boys the most trouble.

Southampton May Get Walker Cup.

RUMOR has it the national golf links at Southampton, L. I., one of the oldest in the country, will be the site of the 1940 Walker cup matches and that an eastern layout (not in the metropolitan area) will get the 1939 open ...To date Al Schacht, the baseball clown, has broken five season and four all-time attendance records on his tour of the hinterland ...Marquette and Minnesota romped through a dual meet the other day in an hour and 15 minutes.

Mike Jacobs now has the heavyweight, welterweight and featherweight champions and may put another egg—the lightweight title—in his basket before the summer is over...Also, they say John Henry Lewis, king of the light heavies, is simply itching for the royal summons to the Hippodrome...Frostly Peters, former Illinois drop kick star and later in the national pro league, is umpiring in the Florida state league and doing all right...In 36 games this year the Yanks have played to 737,000 cash customers, an average of 20,472 a game.

Fullager Fans 14, Beats Parkmen, 7-2

Jimmy Fullager struck out 14 as he scattered 10 hits to pitch the Beeber-Ross softball club to a 7 to 2 victory over Liberty park on the losers' field yesterday. Fullager did not walk a man. Every member of the Beeber-Ross team obtained at least one hit, with Kenny Ross setting the pace with a pair of singles. Wagner, Gemzer, Schaffer and Musille collected two hits apiece for the losers. Musille hit a home run and double for the park.

Led by Adam Brandt, who annexed medal honors with a 40, the Grocers blanked the Auxter Motors, 5 to 0, to take sole possession of first place at Possum Run yesterday.

Vaults Point Behind.

The Metal Vaults, who were tied with the Grocers and Al's Kicks for the lead before yesterday's play, held down second place today, a point behind the pacesetter, with the Central Fruits in the third spot.

Al's Kicks fell into a fourth-place tie with the News-Journals, who advanced at the expense of the Elks, winning 4 to 1.

A feature of yesterday's matches was a 13-hole match which pitted Wayne Anthony of the Fruits against Chuck Schlegel of the Shoemen.

They finished even at the end of the regulation nine holes, and did not break the tie until the 13th.

Anthony's victory enabled the Fruits to take the measure of the Kicks by a 4 to 1 count. Fred Lewis obtaining the only point for the losers by defeating Homer King.

The Bissman team took advantage of a pair of 48's and a 46 shot by the Auxter golfers to gain its sweep. Tony Schadek followed Brandt in the Bissman scoring with a 41.

Dillon's 41 Low.

A 41 by Dillon was low as the Metal Vaults climbed over the Ohio Public Service entry by a 4 to 1 margin to remain in the thick of the titular race.

The Newspapermen played consistently to outlast the Elks, the cellar occupants. John Foltz gave the Lodgemen their only point by defeating Byrnes with a 42.

Help Inmates Open Saturday

Rex Billiards to Play at Carey Sunday.

The Rex Billiards are again scheduled for Saturday and Sunday games this week-end, Manager John Stoner announced today.

The Cuemen will help the inmates open their 1938 season at the reformatory at 2 p. m., Saturday and they will go to Carey for a single tilt Sunday.

Stoner said today that either Jones or Moore would climb on the hill for the Cuemen in the reformatory game, with Sawhill behind the plate.

The Billiards incidentally, are looking for out-of-town games on June 12 and 19.

LIBERTY SHOES TRIM MUSILLE CIGARS, 13 TO 10

Although staging a seven-run rally in the ninth inning the Musille Cigars dropped a 13 to 10 decision to the Liberty Shoes in a softball game played at League park yesterday. Miller and Distl led the Shoemen with three hits apiece. Flaharty socked out three safeties for the losers. Schadek, Musille hurler, struck out 10, but walked six and gave up 13 hits.

Hey, Mr. Ripley! Here's One For You

NEW YORK—(INS)—Hey, Mr. Ripley! Did you ever see a second baseman back up a centerfielder and get an assist for the putout on the play.

Well, it happened in the nightcap game at the stadium yesterday between the Tigers and Yanks, with Charley Gehringer making the freak play. Myril Hoag had sent a looper to short center in the second inning. Dixie Walker raced in for it, Gehringer raced out. Walker called for the ball and missed an attempted shoestring catch. The ball went through him, but Gehringer, backing, up, tossed out Hoag who was trying for second.

Linta, Dials and Weigand To Compete In A.A.U. Meet

Pole Vaulter's Foot Improves Sufficiently to Permit Participation at Columbus.

THE injured foot that kept John Linta from qualifying for the state finals has improved sufficiently to permit him to compete in the Ohio A. A. U carnival to be staged in Columbus, Saturday, Harry Mehock the pole vaulting star's coach at Mansfield high school, announced today.

Linta has been working out daily, and has been reaching his usual height in the workouts, Mehock said.

Linta will be accompanied to Columbus by Elmer Dials and Gil Weigand, who will compete in the javelin event. Weigant set a new record to win this event in the state high school meet last year.

Terry Seeks Buc Infielder

Offers Berger, Chiozza for Pep Young.

PITTSBURGH—(AP)—Bill Terry, fretting about a second base gap in the otherwise serene lineup of his New York Giants, dangled a deal for Lemuel (Pep) Young today in the faces of his National league confederates, the Pittsburgh Pirates.

President Bill Benswanger of the Bues disclosed last night that Terry had offered Outfielder Wally Berger and Second Baseman Lou Chiozza for Young and that the trade might be culminated before the New Yorkers leave town tonight if Manager Pie Traynor approves.

Traynor in turn admitted he was giving the proposal serious consideration.

Terry already had told questioners he was endeavoring to patch up the hole left by Burges Whitehead dropping out for an appendicitis operation.

City Definitely Out of Ohio Loop

Mansfield has been definitely dropped as a prospective member of the Ohio State league, Harry Smith of Columbus, president of the circuit, announced today in a dispatch from Columbus.

With prospects of Mansfield remaining in the league indefinite since early in the spring, it was not until today that flat assertion was made that it would not be represented.

The cities now making up the Class D circuit will continue as a four-team league, Smith said.

JOHNS PARK JUNIORS' WINNING STREAK SNAPPED

Buckey's softball team trimmed the Johns Park Juniors, 12 to 6, to halt the losers' 11-game winning streak at Johns park yesterday. Symsick, Phillips and Buzzard of the winners hit for the circuit. The Juniors scored all of their runs in the sixth.

ALICE MARBLE ONLY U. S. SURVIVOR IN ENGLAND

WEYBRIDGE, Eng.—(U.P.)—Alice Marble, No. 1 U. S. woman tennis player and sole American survivor in the St. George's Hill championships, met Jadwiga Jedrzejowska, Polish titleholder, in a semi-final match today.

Three of Miss Marble's fellow countrywomen, including Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, bowed out of the picture yesterday. Mrs. Moody lost to Britain's No. 2 player, Mary Hardwick. Dorothy May Bundy of Santa Monica, Cal., was beaten by Mrs. Esther Miller of South Africa, and Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan was defeated by Panna Jedrzejowska.

Tigers' Chances Disappear With Release of 'Schoolboy'

Send Rowe to Beaumont With Hope He Will Regain Zip In Salary Whip In Warmer Climate.

By SID FEDER, Associated Press Sports Writer.

THEY said so long to the Schoolboy today. They said so long to one of the grander guys in this baseball business. They'll remember him for his "How'm I doin' Edna?" greeting to his bride that laid the radio audience in the aisles back in the palmy days. They'll remember him pitching the Detroit Tigers to pennants in 1934 and 1935.

And they'll remember him working his heart out this spring trying to come back, trying to overcome an arm ailment that specialists had been laboring over for more than a year.

But it was just no go for Schoolboy Rowe. For four or five innings, the arm held up, although little of the snap was left. Then it went out. Three times this spring he had taken the long walk to the showers.

Back Where He Started.

So yesterday the Tigers sent him back to Beaumont from where he skyrocketed to the top in 1933. They hope the warm, sunny climate of the southwest may restore life and zip to the salary whip.

Schoolboy Rowe

And in Schoolboy Rowe, you have, largely, the picture of the disappearing chances of Mike Cochrane and his Detroit dynamiters in this year's American league wars. With Vernon Kennedy and Rowe, Mickey might have gone places.

But with Kennedy alone—and there isn't another top flight, grade-A flinger on the staff—it's strictly a long shot. That was the fault yesterday. With Kennedy up, they finished in front in the series opener Wednesday.

But yesterday, Mickey sent Poof Poffenberger and Submarine Baller Elden Auker to the post and neither had it. The Yanks won both ends of a doubleheader, 5-4 with Spud Shandler turning in a six-hit effort, and Red Rolfe getting a homer, and 5-2 with Monte Pearson hurling his best game of the season, a five-hitter, and Tommy Henrich and Billy Knickerbocker supplying the home-run production.

That left the Tigers with a less-than-.500 average for the season again, and boosted the Yanks to within 2½ games of the American league leading Cleveland Indians. The Tribe outlasted the Athletics in a battle of home runs in Philadelphia and posted a 10-5 victory.

The pace-setting Giants in the National league were rained out in Pittsburgh, but picked up half a game as the second-place Chicago Cubs took a dose of Boston's pitching magic and lost a 6-2 affair to the Bees.

Feature Homers.

Homers by Ernie Koy and Cookie Lavagetto featured an 11-5 win for Brooklyn over the Cincinnati Reds. Ducky Medwick collected four hits, three of them doubles, to pace the Cardinals to a 12-5 victory over the Phillies.

Dutch Leonard pitched a six-hitter as the Senators swamped the Chicago White Sox, 7-1, and young Jim Bagby duplicated that effort in hurling the Red Sox to a 6-1 win over the St. Louis Browns.

Legion Adds New Players For Sunday

Two Pitchers to Join Club for New Philly Tilt.

New blood will be inserted into the lineup of the American Legion club Sunday for the Central Ohio league game with New Philadelphia at the Fairground.

Of the four new players signed, two are expected to be in uniform Sunday, Manager Dewey Durant stated today.

Sign Southpaw.

The additions certain to don the livery of the Mansfield club on the Sabbath are Lefty Ellis, a southpaw hurler of Greenwich, who twirled for a Jackson, Mich., team last year, and Donald Dudley of Tiro.

Dudley is a right handed pitcher, and was one of the many St. Louis Cardinal-controlled players who was recently freed from the chain by Judge Landis.

Dudley, according to Durant, did not make an attempt to gain a berth with any other club in organized baseball after his release.

Fuller, a catcher, who had a tryout with the New York Yankees a year ago, and was playing with one of the club's "farms" until he broke a finger recently, will join the club in the near future, Durant said.

Ed Willard, who played with the Mohican Chevrolets last year, is the other player expected to join the Legionnaires in the near future.

Willard, who is a student at John Carroll university, may report Sunday, Durant said.

Strengthen Team.

The addition of these new players is expected to strengthen the Legion club materially in its pennant fight in the first half.

The Legionnaires meet one of the two undefeated clubs in the league in the New Philadelphia team Sunday.

City League Splits Season

Plan Play-off After Last Round in August.

Two champions may be crowned in the City Class A softball league this year instead of one.

To be more specific, a split-season will be played by the four teams entered in the city's premier softball circuit. The winners of the two championships will stage a play-off at the end of the season.

Of course, if one team should win both championships, a play-off will be unnecessary.

The first half race opens Monday, and will be completed July 11. The second half opens the following week.

According to President Sam Hollingsworth, the play-off games are tentatively set for the latter part of August.

Liberty park meets Johns park at Liberty park and North park faces Prospect park at Prospect park in the opening games Monday.

SNEAD MAJOR THREAT IN KANSAS CITY MEET

KANSAS CITY—(INS)—Golfdom's big names teed-off at five-minute intervals over Hillcrest course here today as the race began for the $5,000 to be paid in the Kansas City open golf tournament. Sam Snead's three under par 70, turned in a practice round, established the heavy hitter as a major threat.

Ohio Diving Champion to Appear In Exhibition at Liberty Park Sunday

A SPORTS feature of the dedication ceremonies at Liberty park next Sunday will be an aquatic exhibition to be staged in the new pool.

Heading the list of tank stars to appear in the exhibition is Eddie McVehil of Canton McKinley high school, who is the state scholastic low board diving champion.

McVehil, who is rated as one of the outstanding high school divers in the nation, will enroll at Ohio State next fall.

Another event on the program will be a comedy diving act from the high board recently erected. Russell Von Weider, manager of the pool and a member of the U. S. Olympic team of 1924, and Tony Schadek, N. C. O. district diving champion, will be featured in this event.

Sunday will also mark the official opening of the pool, Von Weider announced. The pool will open at 9 a. m. and swimming will be permitted until 9:30 p. m. The pool will be closed at one hour intervals at noon and 5 p. m.

This is the schedule under which the pool will be operated throughout the season, Von Weider stated. He also said that no tickets will be sold after 8 p. m. on any day.

In addition to formulating plans for a series of water polo matches, Von Weider is arranging special swimming classes at the pool. He requests groups and individuals wishing instructions to contact him at the pool.

The exhibition Sunday is scheduled to start at 3:30 p. m.

Trosky Wields Big Bat

First Sacker's Hitting Important Factor in Tribe's Win at Philly.

PHILADELPHIA,—(U.P.)—An 80-point improvement in the batting average of a club's power hitter can work wonders with a team and such a transformation was taking place today with the Cleveland Indians.

The Indians hung up their first victory of a crucial eastern trip here yesterday when they defeated the Philadelphia Athletics 10 to 5 and the headliner in the victory was First Baseman Hal Trosky.

Off to Good Start.

Trosky experienced a dismal season in 1937 and hit a mere .298. His loss of power was felt keenly by the club. This year Trosky was off to a great start and his hard and timely hitting has helped keep the Indians at the top of the American league standing. He is hitting a robust .380.

Trosky secured three safeties yesterday to pace the Tribe's 13-hit attack off Edgar Smith and Nelson Potter. Included in his hits were a home run and a triple. The big first sacker drove in four runs.

For six innings the contest was a fine mound duel between the veteran Earl Whitehill and Smith. At the end of that time the count was knotted at 3 to 3.

Trosky and Ken Keltner opened the seventh with successive home runs and the Indians were well on their way to victory. They added three more runs in the eighth and another pair in the ninth.

After limiting the Athletics to three runs in eight innings, Whitehill weakened and Rookie Bill Zuber had to be rushed in after Philadelphia had pushed across two counters. Zuber did not grant a hit.

Yanks Cut Lead.

Despite the victory, Cleveland had its hold on first place cut to two and one-half games as the New York Yankees snared a double-header from Detroit.

Johnny Allen was to work on the mound for the Indians in the final contest of the series today with "Bud" Thomas opposing him.

Old-Timers To Don Togs In Cleveland

CLEVELAND—(AP)—The Major League Old Timers announced today diamond heroes of former years would don playing togs in July for a feature game between Tris Speaker's 1920 world champion Indians and Larry (Nap) Lajoie's 1908 Tribe squad.

Nearly two score veterans attended a meeting of the Old Timers last night. They included George Strief, Paddy Livingston, Frank and Jim Delehanty, Jack Graney, Dr. Thomas F. Healy and Speaker. The planned game is intended to raise funds for Cleveland amateur baseball and for needy big league stars of the past.

FAILURE AT HOUSTON, DEAN TO TRY INT. LOOP

ST. LOUIS—(U.P.)—Paul Dean, one-time right-handed pitching star of the St. Louis Cardinals, today was sent to Rochester, a Cardinal farm, on option. Branch Rickey, Cardinal general manager, said Paul would report immediately. Dean has been at Houston in the Texas league but failed to make good there.

MID-AMERICA REGATTA AT MARIETTA CANCELLED

MARIETTA — (U.P.) — The Mid-America regatta, scheduled for July 2, has been cancelled, it was announced here today. The late date of the regatta did not meet with the favor of many crew coaches as it would have necessitated keeping the oarsmen in training an extra month.

Even At End Of 18 Holes

U. S. Team Leads in Two Matches in Scotland.

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland—(AP)—The United States Walker Cup golfers, defending the trophy America has won in each of nine previous international matches, were leading their British rivals in two Scotch foursome matches and trailing in two others today at the end of the morning 18 holes.

Johnny Fischer of Cincinnati and Charles (Chuck) Kocsis of Detroit, the No. 1 U. S. pair, staged a sensational sprint down the back nine to end the first round three up on young Jim Bruen of Ireland and Harry Bentley of England, while Charley Yates of Atlanta, who won the British amateur title last week, and Ray Billows of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., outsteadied Charles Stowe and Alex Kyle to gain a 5-up margin at the half-way mark.

Meanwhile Johnny Goodman of Omaha, U. S. amateur champion, and his partner, Marvin (Bud) Ward of Olympia, Wash., as well as the No. 4 combination of Slim Fred Haas, jr., of New Orleans and stocky Reynolds Smith of Dallas, went to lunch three down to their British rivals. Goodman and Ward were outplayed by Hector Thomson and Gordon Peters, the two Scots who were on the 1936 team, and Haas and Smith were trailing Frank Pennink and Leonard Crawley, both of England.

AL TO MISS U. S. OPEN, BILL NAMED ALTERNATE

CLEVELAND—Carmen Bill, East Cleveland pro, today was named to replace Al Espinosa of Akron at an alternate in the national open golf tournament at Denver. Espinosa, who qualified here, said his work as pro at Akron Portage club would cause him to miss the open for the second time in 15 years.

TROJAN SPIKESTERS FAVORED IN I. C. 4-A

NEW YORK — (U.P.) — Southern California all the way! That was the forecast today as athletes from 31 colleges began battling for 15 individual championships and the prized team title in the 62nd annual I. C.-4-A. track and field tournament at Randall's Island stadium. The Trojans were appearing in the meet for the first time since 1935 when they won the team title handily with 51 points.

BOND SALE

Sealed proposals will be received at the office of the auditor of the City of Mansfield, State of Ohio, until One o'clock (P. M.) of June 13, 1938 for the purchase of mortgage revenue bonds on the water works system of the said city in the aggregate sum of $64,000.00, dated the first day of May, 1938. Bonds will be numbered from one to sixty-four both inclusive, and each bond shall be in the denomination of $1000.00, and will draw interest at the rate of six per cent per annum, payable semi-annually on the 1st days of May and November of each year upon presentation and surrender of interest coupons to be attached to said bonds. First interest date, November 1, 1938.

Anyone desiring to do so may present a bid or bids for said bonds based on a rate bearing a different rate of interest than that hereinbefore specified, provided that where a fractional interest rate is bid such fraction shall be one quarter of one per cent or multiples thereof. Said bonds will be due and payable as follows: Eight bonds of $1000.00 each on each November 1st from 1939 to 1946 inclusive.

Said bonds are issued for the purpose of extending, improving, and enlarging the water works system of the city by the construction of water mains and elevated storage tank for the Woodland District.

Said principal sum of $64,000.00 shall be secured only by a mortgage upon the property comprising the water works system, and an exclusive first lien upon and payable primarily from the gross revenues of said system. Legislation on the $64,000.00 issue shall not be construed as pledging the general credit of said city to the payment of said bonds or any part thereof, or interest thereon.

Said bonds are issued under the authority of the laws of Ohio and of Section 12, Article 18 of the Ohio Constitution, the general laws of the State of Ohio; and under and in accordance with Ordinance No. 38-83 of the said city passed on the 3rd day of May, 1938.

Said bonds will be sold to the highest bidder for not less than the face value thereof, and accrued interest to date of delivery.

All bids must state the number of bonds bid for and the gross amount of bid and accrued interest to date of delivery. All bids shall be accompanied with a certified check on a solvent bank of Mansfield, Ohio, payable to the city for $640.00, upon condition that if the bid is accepted the bidder will receive and pay for such bonds as may be issued as above set forth, within thirty days from time of award, said check to be forfeited to the city if said condition is not fulfilled. Bids should be sealed and endorsed "Mortgage Revenue Bonds on the Water Works System of the City of Mansfield, Ohio."

P. L. KELLEY,
City Auditor.

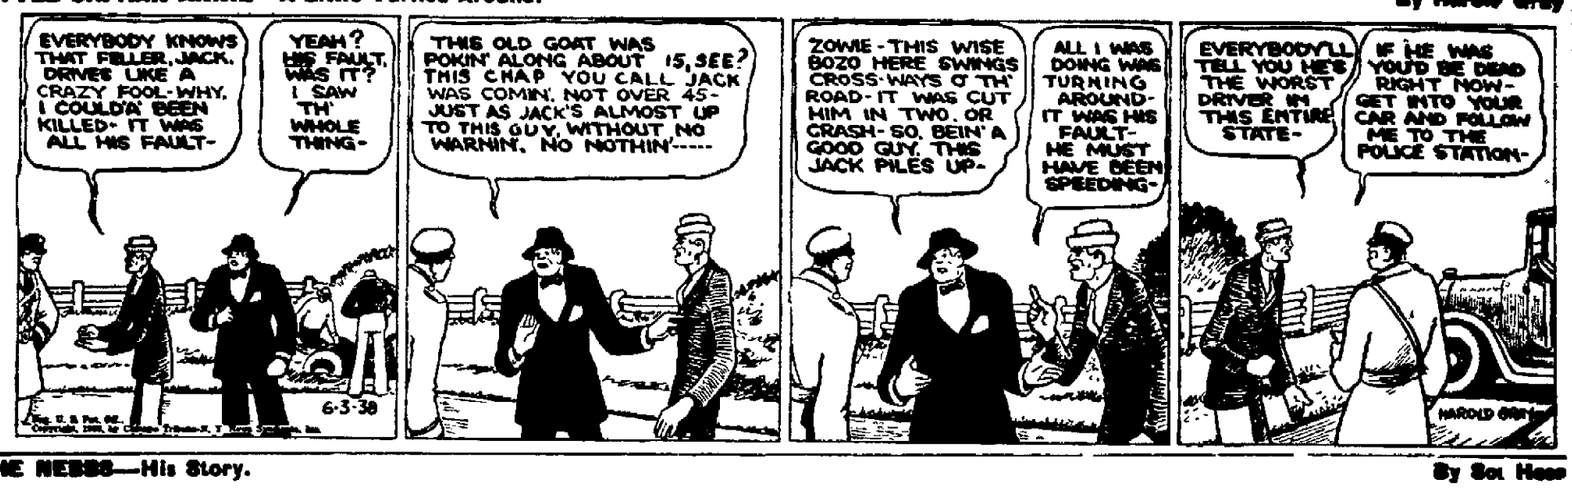
LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE—A Little Turned Around. By Harold Gray



EVERYBODY KNOWS THAT FELLER, JACK, DRIVES LIKE A CRAZY FOOL-WHY, I COULD'A' BEEN KILLED- IT WAS ALL HIS FAULT-
YEAH? HIS FAULT, WAS IT? I SAW TH' WHOLE THING-
THIS OLD GOAT WAS POKIN' ALONG ABOUT 15, SEE? THIS CHAP YOU CALL JACK WAS COMIN', NOT OVER 45- JUST AS JACK'S ALMOST UP TO THIS GUY, WITHOUT NO WARNIN', NO NOTHIN'----- ZOWIE-THIS WISE BOZO HERE SWINGS CROSS-WAYS O' TH' ROAD- IT WAS CUT HIM IN TWO, OR CRASH- SO, BEIN' A GOOD GUY, THIS JACK PILES UP-
ALL I WAS DOING WAS TURNING AROUND- IT WAS HIS FAULT- HE MUST HAVE BEEN SPEEDING-
EVERYBODY'LL TELL YOU HE'S THE WORST DRIVER IN THIS ENTIRE STATE-
IF HE WAS YOU'D BE DEAD RIGHT NOW- GET INTO YOUR CAR AND FOLLOW ME TO THE POLICE STATION-

THE NEBBS—His Story. By Sol Hess

YOU SAILED FOR AFRICA ON THE KONIA AND WE GOT WORD IT WAS LOST WITH ALL ON BOARD-- HOW COME?
WELL, I FLOATED AROUND ON A PLANK FOR DAYS AND FINALLY SIGHTED LAND IN THE FAR DISTANCE AND MADE UP MY MIND TO SWIM IT-- YOU KNOW WHAT A SWIMMER I WAS!
YES, YOU USED TO TAKE TO WATER LIKE A FISH DOES TO LAND
WELL, IF A SHARK IS AFTER YOU, YOU'LL SWIM— ONE TOOK AFTER ME FOR TWO HOURS--I OUT-SWAM HIM AND FINALLY LOOKED BACK AND SAW HIM SHAKE HIS HEAD LIKE IT WAS NO USE--
I LANDED ON AN ISLAND-- STAYED THERE UNTIL THE KING GOT JEALOUS OF ME-- HE SAID TO ME 'YOUR HEAD AINT MUCH TO LOOK AT BUT IT LOOKS BETTER'N NOTHIN' AT ALL SETTIN' ON YOUR NECK.' SO I LEFT THE ISLAND!

PAM—Reactions! By A. W. Brewerton

DAVID CERTAINLY DID SEEM GENUINELY GLAD TO SEE ME — ALL THAT MISS WINSLOW SAID MIGHT BE TRUE! — BUT IF HE REALLY CARES, HE OUGHT TO SAY SO!
6-3
IF SHE HAD THE RIGHT IDEA, THOUGH, DAVID WOULD WAIT TO SEE HOW THE OPERATION ON HIS FOOT CAME OUT, BLESS HIM! —OH — HOW I'D LOVE TO TELL HIM HIS BEING A CRIPPLE ONLY MAKES ME CARE MORE — BUT — MAYBE SHE WAS WRONG!
SO OCCUPIED WERE PAM'S THOUGHTS, SHE FAILED TO HEAR THE COLONEL'S SIGNAL FOR HER — UNTIL IT SOUNDED A SECOND TIME — WHICH, TO SAY THE LEAST, WASN'T LIKE PAM!
THE COLONEL'S BUZZER! — GOODNESS! SOUNDS AS IF HE'S MIFFED ABOUT SOME-THING!
I'D BETTER HURRY!
BUZZ-ZZ
PAM, OF COURSE, HAS NOT TOLD CLARE OF MISS WINS-LOWS LETTER AND CLARE IS VERY PUZZLED ABOUT IT ALL!
I JUST DON'T GET IT! IF DAVID ISN'T IN LOVE WITH PAM, IM DIPPY! HE CERTAINLY HAS ALL THE EARMARKS — AND YET — THEY DIDN'T SEEM TO GET ANYWHERE! — WONDER WHAT'S WRONG — HE HASN'T EVEN MENTIONED THAT NURSE HE WAS ENGAGED TO — SINCE HE GOT BACK

OLYMPIC HIKER STARTS

ZURICH—(U.P.)—Fritz Steinegger, 25, has left Zurich for a walk to Tokio, where he hopes to take part in the Olympic games scheduled to be held there in 1940. The distance is about 12,500 miles, but he is going to make the walk as long as possible so that he can win the prize being offered to the one who makes the longest trip to reach the games.

TRADERS HOLD COMMITMENTS TO MINIMUMS

Market Encouragement Lacking in Most Week-End Trade Surveys.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Stock market leaders generally crawled into moderately lower territory today.

Copper futures and the export rate for this metal tilted forward. Major commodities displayed advancing signs. Bonds were mixed.

Washington news was without particularly Inspiring qualities marketwise and business developments were as drab as ever, consequently stock buyers kept commitments to minimums.

Market encouragement was lacking in most week-end trade surveys. While Dun & Bradstreet estimated retail spending for the country as a whole averaged 3 to 8 per cent over the preceding week, due mainly to improved shopping weather, the aggregate ran 10 to 18 per cent below the corresponding 1937 week. Demand still suffered from failure of payrolls to expand, it was added.

The review said buying in wholesale markets continued hesitant, "revealing the persistent cautiousness which has kept volume constricted all year."

'BREAK' LOOMS IN KIDNAP CASE

G-Man's Hint at Confession Stirs Miami; 2,000 Renew Search for Boy, 5.

a dog in a sack led to erroneous reports that the child's body had been found.

Police at Homestead, about ten miles southwest of Princeton, flashed word that what appeared to be a body had been found in the sack.

Three federal men, accompanied by the boy's father and a cordon of semi-official investigators sped to Homestead, but upon arrival there they were told the body had been found to be a dog's carcass.

Previously the arrival here by plane of J. Edgar Hoover, director of the federal bureau of investigation, gave rise to reports that the expected break in the case had come.

Hoover himself declined to state what progress had been made.

Quizzed About Note.

Meanwhile it was understood that federal agents were subjecting John Manuel, colored, to intensive questioning in an effort to further build up their meager knowledge of the kidnapers.

It was at Manuel's shack that the kidnapers left the ransom note, shouting to him to deliver it to the father of their captive.

The agents, it was said, were anxious to make sure that Manuel could recognize the voice he had heard if he heard it again.

Federal men posted a reward of double the face value for finders of the first hundred of the ransom bills. Serial numbers of the bills were distributed yesterday as the search for the boy's abductors gained headway.

There was indication that the investigators, trained to anticipate developments in similar cases, had given up hope of finding the missing child alive.

It was believed the parents' hope also was fading. They withdrew behind locked doors in the combination store and apartment building in which they made their home at Princeton.

A stir was caused there when a member of the searching party combing the area suddenly fainted from exhaustion. An ambulance rushed to the spot, sounding its siren, and at once the waiting crowd got out of control, brushing police aside as it swarmed to the ambulance to see if it contained the body of little Jimmy.

The search for the boy was not confined to land and air. Divers were descending to the beds of nearby streams and more than thirty water-filled limestone pits in the belief Jimmy's body may have been weighted and thrown into one of them. One of the divers was a woman.

ALTGELD NAMED IN NEW BOOK ON U. S. POLITICS

Mansfield Native Who Rose to Governorship Figures in Library Addition.

John Altgeld, a Mansfield native who rose to the governorship and political heights after leaving his home town, and whose biography was recently published, comes into the literary limelight again in "The Politicos", a new companion volume to "The Robber Barons", by Matthew Josephson. "The Politicos" is an addition to non-fiction material at the Public library this week.

The book concerns the men who played an important part in American political history from 1865 to 1896, and who were labeled the "key men" of their times. Among them are Horace Greely, James G. Blaine, Grover Cleveland, John Altgeld, William Jennings Bryan (whose political career the Mansfield man furthured) and Mark Hanna, the great political "boss" of Ohio. The volume will be particularly interesting to students of modern political figures.

"My New World" is Abbe Ernest Dimmet's autobiography in which he presents a comprehensive picture of the World war as he knew it, from its effects on the lives of the people and building in a small French city.

Clare Boothe gives a caustic satire on "The Women" in the play of that title. This is one of the currently popular dramas on Broadway and on tour with Lois Wilson, former movie star, in the leading role.

Writes on Research.

Paul DeKruif's new book "The Fight for Life" continues his record of the scientific research and experiments which have contributed so much to the welfare of humanity. In this book he discusses the efforts to reduce maternal mortality, syphilis, tuberculosis and infantile paralysis.

Seven other non-fiction volumes were added this week to the library shelves: "Story of Motherhood", by Finney; "Paper-Making Through Eighteen Centuries", by Hunter; "Aluminum", Hobbs; "History of Motion Pictures". Bardeche & Brasillach; "Crossroads of the Buccaneers", De Leeuw; "Wyoming Cowboy Days", Guernsey and "History of Ireland" by Curtis.

A novel by Frank Swinnerton is always an event for his many readers and his "Harvest Comedy" is no exception. It is a novel in the great tradition, with its settings in the quiet English town of Moreton. Three boys and a girl grow up together and into their various destinies; William Harvest, a courageous young journalist; weak Robert Whistler, cynical Richard Firth, and Minna Manning with whom Harvest finally finds contentment.

"Promenade" by G. B. Lancaster pictures the development of New Zealand, through the rise in the fortunes of an English family of county aristocracy who came to the country of the long white cloud in 1830.

"Daughters and Sons" by Ivy Compton Burnett is a portrait of a family group in England, in which the characters are revealed almost entirely by conversation, as in a play.

The week's fiction list is rounded out with five other volumes—"Youth in Trust", a complicated story of love and ambition in Paris and London, by Frederick Wright; "Bullet in the Ballet", by Abrahams; "Wings North", Case; "Lady Be Good", Dunlap; and "Great American Family", by Shippey.

IN O. S. U. NEWS

9 From City, Vicinity Figure in Campus Activities.

Nine students from Mansfield and nearby towns attending Ohio State university have been elected to offices and to membership in various sororities, fraternities and clubs on the university campus.

Initiated into the different organizations from Mansfield were Margaret Farber, Pi Mu Epsilon, mathematics honorary fraternity, and Jean Seybold, elected to Delta Omicron, professional music corority.

Those from the vicinity elected officers were Alice R. Smith, Fredericktown, treasurer, the Canfield club; Robert Ratchford, Willard, chaplain of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity, and Robert Anderson, Mt. Vernon, president of the Tower club annex.

Harry Tripp, Mt. Vernon, Ivan Logan, Mt. Gilead, and Warren Christman, Galion, were admitted to the Tower club annex.

When Theta Xi fraternity held its spring formal dance Robert Hartman, Mansfield, was one of two students in charge of arrangements for the affair.

HORSE NO DIFFERENT THAN MAN WHEN IT COMES TO BROKEN LEG

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—Considered from the standpoint of future usefulness, horses which suffer broken legs don't need to be shot any more than humans who might be similarly unfortunate.

That, in so many words, was the opinion expressed today by Dr. Willard F. Guard, head of the veterinary clinic at Ohio State university, who asserted he had been setting the broken legs of horses successfully for some 25 years.

"Contrary to public belief generally," Dr. Guard said, "horses' broken legs can be and are healed just as effectively as those of humans."

Aside from unusual problems encountered in treating horses for fractures, Dr. Guard said the only major difference between consideration of such injuries in horses or in humans was one of economics.

The veterinarian asserted that since most race horses and other blooded animals were insured, owners were more inclined to permit destruction of the injured animal than to run the chance that their horses would emerge crippled from a cast.

"If a man breaks his leg he asks a doctor to set it and if he doesn't regain full use of the limb, he generally is thankful it was no worse," Dr. Guard commented.

"With a horse, it's different. If the animal fails to recover completely from a leg fracture the owner generally considers he has lost the usefulness of the animal, except for breeding purposes."

As an example of his success in setting fractured horse legs, Dr. Guard cited a horse name "De Wolf" now owned by Michigan State college.

When a colt, the animal suffered a broken radius bone, Dr. Guard said. The break was treated successfully and in 1932 the Belgian stallion placed seventh in a group of 21 two-year-olds in competition at the Ohio State fair.

As an example of treating similar inuries in older animals, Dr. Guard said he set a fracture received by a 20-year-old army horse and that the horse lived several years after that without showing any apparent bad effects.

3 TRIALS SET

Jury to Hear Cases of Trio Who Pleaded Innocent.

Jury trials had been set today for three defendants who pleaded innocent three days ago to indictments on criminal charges returned by the county grand jury.

Donald Arnold, 31, of near Shelby is scheduled to go on trial Monday morning on a criminal assault charge. He is held in the county jail under $3,000 bond.

Howard Mosier, 23, of Windsor, and Myer Abramson, Mansfield, will go on trial before the petit jury Wednesday, June 15, according to the schedule announced by C. A. McKinley, court assignment clerk.

Mosier was indicted for abandoning his wife and Abramson on a charge of assault and battery. The former is in the county jail and Abramson is free on bond.

SALES DECLINE

Auto, Truck Business Drops Off in May, Report Shows.

A decline in sales of both automobiles and trucks in Richland county last month from figures for the preceding month was shown today in the report of Norman P. Henry, deputy county clerk of courts in charge of motor registrations

A total of 114 new cars were sold in May as compared with 126 in April and 330 in May last year, one of the best months on record in the county.

Truck sales dropped from 17 in April to 15 last month, and total registrations declined from 1,675 in April to 1,664 in May.

BEES IN 'HAUNTED HOUSE'

TURLOCK, Cal.—(U P)—Migratory workers started the rumor here that a vacant house was haunted, insisting they had not only heard rumblings in the house at night but had actually seen the "ghost" fly in and out the windows. Finally police were called to watch, and the "ghost" flew out of the window in the shape of two swarms of bees.

CLASS OFFICERS WIN ALL HONORS

chosen queen of the Mansfield Relays.

Smith was president of the January class, and was one of 12 members of the class elected to the National Honor society. He was also given honorable mention in scholastic honors.

Both the University club and the American Association of University Women awards are awarded on the basis of scholarship, in which a student must have an average of B, character, leadership, mental ability, personality, and physique.

Other Honors for Miss Werner.

In addition to receiving first scholastic honor, Miss Werner was elected to the National Honor society, received honorable mention in both the University club and University Women's awards, received the Eta Sigma Phi, honorary fraternity, Latin award to the most outstanding student for fourth year Latin, and was one of two students to receive the Student Representative council medal for outstanding work in the art classes.

Miss Houlette, winner of the second highest scholastic honor, also was elected to the National Honor society, Gano, third honor student, was named to the National Honor society and received honorable mention in both university awards.

Thirty-two other members of the class were given honorable mention for their scholastic work. They are Henrietta Duncan, William Griebling, David Hagelbarger, Robert Tobias, Evelyn Stelts, Rebecca Howe, Frances Case, Howard Prion, Franklin Cyphers, Leo Schuster, Frederick Hansen, Evelyn Jocha, Evelyn Timmons, Helen Sturgeon, Mary Smith, Wanda Emmer, Bette Greene, Donna Etzwiler, Kathryn Johnson, Lester Diskosky, Angelo Nott, Frances Hansen, Warren Rupp, Helen Sternbaum, Marjorie Restle, Audrey Morton, Robert Bottomley, Earl Burns, jr., Robert Rube, Shirley Engelsrud, Budd Gardner and Murray Bullock.

Honor Society Members.

The Mansfield chapter of the National Honor society elected 32 members of the class into its membership. In addition to those already named, other members of the society are Evelyn Jocha, Evelyn Stelts, Rebecca Howe, Wanda Emmer, Eleanore Bolesky, Doris Marshall, Helen Sternbaum, Helen Sturgeon, Donna Etzwiler, Bette Greene, Sue Paste, Martha Moore, David Hagelbarger, Frank Cyphers, Warren Rupp, Harold Loesch, Walter Thompson, William Long, John Baki, Angelo Mott, Howard Prion, Frances Hansen, Frederick Hansen, Evelyn Timmons, Norma Harrison, Mary Smith, Naomi Giffin, and Alice Matthews.

Membership in the honor society is based on scholarship, service to the school, leadership, and character. Students named are selected by a committee made up of faculty members.

Students given honorable mention in the University club award were Robert Murphy and Kathleen Gehl, both of the January class, and David Hagelbarger, Warren Rupp, Rebecca Howe, and Doris Marshall. Those who received honorable mention in the University women's award are David Hagelbarger, Robert Tobias, Doris Marshall, Evelyn Jocha, and Robert Murphy and Kathleen Gehl of the January class.

12 Receive Medals.

At each Class day exercise the Student Representative council of the school presents medals to the outstanding students in the various departments of the school. Twelve such medals were presented this afternoon.

The went to Donald Penney, art; Warren Rupp and David Hagelbarger, mathematics; Alice Matthews and Helen Sternbaum, dramatics; Anne Pasheilich, biology; John Baki, vocational; Walter Thompson, history; David Hagelbarger, science, and John Hallabrin, athletics.

The entire program was given in a way to represent the docking of a ship with the auditorium stage representing the dock. The class history was given in the form of a ship's log by Rebecca Howe, and Audrey Morton, author of the class poem, read the poem.

The class will was read by William Ahrendt, chairman of the will committee, and Robert Rhoads presented as the class memorial, a check for $150 to the school to be used in the purchase of dictionaries.

A talk was then given by Jesse Beer, principal, during which he presented the scholastic, and Student Representative Council awards. The tapping exercises for the National Honor society were in charge of Miss Naomi Granden, president of the Mansfield chapter of the society. An introduction to the exercises was given by Raymond Dent, also a member of the society.

Awarding of the Latin and University Women's medals was made by Miss Ruth Dunham, Latin instructor at the school, and the University club cups were presented by Frank L. Hansen of the University club.

"The Manhigan", school annual, was presented to the school by Robert McAninch, one of its editors, and was dedicated to V. H. Oberlander, supervisor of the school's vocational department, for his efforts in behalf of the school.

The class "Farewell Song," composed by Paul Davis, was sung by Davis, and the singing of the class song, composed DeLee Garber, brought the exercises to a close. Miss Garber accompanied the class at the piano.

ASHLAND—Local police Investigated 18 automobile accidents in Ashland during the month of May, according to the monthly report issued by Herman D. Fetzer, chief.

U. S. 'FATHER' OF AMERICAS

New World Standing Shoulder to Shoulder Against Any Foreign Aggression.

provides for consultation among the 21 American republics in the event of military aggression. Of those nations, the United States is the only first class military power.

Brazil has two battleships, two cruisers, eight destroyers and seven submarines to protect her fabulous wealth. Wealthy Argentina has two battleships, two cruisers, four coast defense vessels, nine destroyers and six submarines. Chile has a somewhat smaller navy.

U. S. Has A Stake.

Obviously it would be easier for the United States to defend its own shores alone than to try to protect all the Americas. Brazil, for example, is closer to Europe than it is to the United States.

Most interpretations of the Monroe Doctrine, however, have assumed that the United States would act against European or Asiatic military aggression in South America. Whether this country would actually go to war would be decided by congress.

The decision probably would depend upon these points: the circumstances under which the South American country became involved in war; the danger of an invasion to the peace and safety of the United States; the attitude of the people of the United States.

The size of any military force the United States might send to the war zone would depend upon the need for defending its own shores. The business of the U. S. fleet would be to seek out and destroy enemy fleets rather than to defend the shores of a South American country.

U. S. fighting planes could fly south over established airlines and use established bases in South America. Enemy planes would have to depend primarily upon aircraft carriers—more vulnerable than land bases.

In a protracted war, a combination of the larger South American countries could muster a large manpower. Most of the countries have valuable third-line defense assets in large food supplies and essential minerals.

Lotus Seed Buried In Bog 400 Years Begins to Sprout

CHICAGO— (INS) —Buried for 400 years in a Manchurian peat bog, a pink lotus seed was vigorously taking up life anew today. From the seed has sprung two hardy plants at the Garfield Park conservatory.

The seed with a nut-like shell was discovered twelve years ago by Prof. C. F. Chamberlain of the University of Chicago. He turned it over to the Field museum where it was studied and cautiously experimented with.

Dr. B. E. Dahlgren, chief of the botany department this spring softened the shell with acid and then placed it in water. He was rewarded within a week when it began to sprout.

It was later transferred to the conservatory where recently a new tendril cropped out and was transplanted. Blooms are not expected for several years.

PASTOR SLAIN, TOWN STIRRED

Intruder Kills Priest, Slugs Housekeeper In Missouri.

CENTRALIA, Mo. — (U.P.)—Persons in this little Missouri community sought to determine today why two masked men killed the Rev. Charles E. Einig and slugged his housekeeper, Miss Martha Rice, while they sat in the parlor of Father Einig's home last night.

Father Einig, 65, the Catholic priest of this parish, was not known to have any enemies. He was a friendly man, who unobtrusively administered to his parish of 75 members at Centralia and Sturgeon.

The house was not robbed, and a bill fold containing $14 remained in the priest's pocket.

FORD STICKS TO OPTIMISM VIEW

Renews Prediction That U. S. Faces 'Greatest Era of Prosperity, Happiness.'

Ford said there was nothing about his recent visit to Wall Street to see J. P. Morgan that was inconsistent with his opposition to "certain financial interests."

"There is a constructive and a destructive Wall Street," he said. "The house of Morgan represents the constructive. I have known Mr. Morgan for many years. He backed and supported Thomas Edison, who was also my good friend."

Ford does not worry about anything. He did not worry about the Selden patent when it threatened many years ago to stop his production of automobiles and he is not worrying now about the NLRB or the Wagner act.

"I don't worry," he explained, "because I've always believed that 'whatever is, is best.'

"My belief is that everyone is on earth for experience and to help give others experience."

Then, after a pause, he added: "They can get a lot more experience by joining the land with industry."

From Ford's feet as he spoke stretched the seemingly endless acres of land under cultivation; in the distance could be seen the huge stacks of the giant Rouge plant of the Ford Motor company.

"Anyway," he concluded, reflectively, "that's what's coming."

Union High Girl Dies Six Days After Graduation

Members of the Union high school 1938 graduating class, today mourned the passing of one of their number, just six days after the commencement exercises at the Weller township school.

Celia Elizabeth Kent, 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil B. Kent, a member of the class, died in the Mansfield General hospital. Apparently in good health on the night of her graduation a week ago today, the girl became ill the following day and died yesterday afternoon.

Miss Kent was an outstanding student, and graduated with the second highest honors in her class. She also edited the class annual and was presented with a gold medal for her work. She finished among the leaders in the Richland county essay contest held last month and received honorable mention in the Medina essay contest.

Born in Morrisonville, Ill., Nov. 14, 1919, Miss Kent came with her parents to this vicinity when a small child. She was a member of the Methodist church of Olivesburg and took an active part in the Sunday School activities.

Surviving besides her parents are four sisters, Mrs. Kenneth Crabbes of Mansfield, Mrs. Forest Bowser and Mrs. Russell Wolfe of Olivesburg and Helen at home, and a brother, Guy of Mansfield.

Funeral services wil be held at the Olivesburg M. E. church at 2 p. m. Sunday with Rev. Oscar Ashburn officiating. Burial will be in the Olivesburg cemetery.

CHAPTER XXI

"My father?" Clay interrupted harply. 'He was. And I'll ask you to keep it in mind. I can satisfy your curiosity about the money that paid for my education. It was from a small estate that belonged to my mother. Father never would listen to using any of it for himself."

"Really? You're giving me a better impression of John Odell than I had."

"I intended to pay him back," Clay went on unheedingly. "It was the greatest regret of my life that he died just before I graduated."

Romulus nodded his head in mock approval.

"Now, I expected you would be like that. I was very sure of it. Almost positive. How about making it up to me, instead?"

* * *

Clay stared at his uncle without speaking. A fear, like a cold hand, seemed to close about his heart.

"I think you've guessed it," Romulus went on, almost gently. 'That matter of your mother's estate was....you might call it a fabrication. Mine, incidentally. The money came out of my pocket."

Clay's lips moved, but no sound came.

"Oh, yes," he heard Wardlaw say cheerfully. "It can be rather easily proved, if you like. It's all in black and white...another of those ridiculous contracts. I like to make sure. Annie Kimes was a witness. Ask her, if you like."

"Why did you do it?" Clay asked in a dull voice. "Why?"

"That is another thing I wouldn't have gone into, if you hadn't made it necessary," his uncle informed him. "When you were born, I had learned that I never would have any children of my own. I was getting ahead very well....in spite of the methods you dislike. I had this mill going and an interest in two others. I sold out my other interests some years ago at a tidy profit. I kept the Norwood Mills because they were my first. I wanted an heir. I wanted to leave my money and business to someone who would carry on for me. I think that is as near as I have ever come to being sentimental, thank God. Get my point?"

Clay nodded silently.

"All right. When your mother died. . . . " Wardlaw hesitated, went on with an added note of harshness. "Your father was like you . . . full of notions. I knew he'd never be able to do much for you and I wanted to adopt you, bring you up into a ready-made future. Your father wouldn't listen to reason. So we compromised. I arranged to furnish money for your education . . . a business education. You weren't to see me in the meantime and your father was not to try to set you against me. He didn't approve of me. It was understood that, when you were of age, I was to offer you a job . . . bid as high as I had to . . . and that you were to draw your own conclusions. You have. It looks like I'd tossed away my money. But I don't toss away money often. If you don't protect my investment, I'm afraid it's going to be a serious reflection on you. What do you think?"

Still Clay made no answer.

"Well? Can't you speak up?"

"I was thinking," was the reply. "I suppose all this is true. If it is, then it clears up a number of things I've often wondered about.

"You'll find it's true enough. The question is, what are you going to do about it."

"That isn't the question," Clay contradicted. "I'm going to pay you. The question is, with me, what is the quickest way. That's what worries me."

"I was sure you'd want to do that," Romulus approved. "And I'll tell you the quickest way. You'd be a bigger fool than ever to start at the bottom again. The figure is probably larger than you're thinking. If you really want to free yourself, you can do it quicker by staying right here. In fact, I'll even make it more worth your while. And there's still another inducement."

"What's that?" Clay asked wearily.

"Why, it must be you've forgotten that little spell I had. I think that doctor was a fool . . . but he might be right. If I were to pass out of the picture, you'd be sitting pretty. You'd find yourself out of debt and well-off to boot. I'll guarantee that."

"I see. And you'll also feel perfectly free to dictate my existence." Clay prompted bitterly. It's a very clever scheme you've worked out."

"Oh, come!" Romulus exclaimed impatiently. "Why do you have to be dramatic about things? I'm giving you the biggest chance of your life, and you hem and haw over it. Naturally, I expect you to carry out my wishes in a general way. But that's no reason we can't make out together. All you have to do is to be sensible. Think it over."

"Yes. I'll have to think it over. Quite a little."

Clay walked slowly to the door without a glance at Romulus who stood looking after him, a glint of sardonic amusement in his keen eyes. Wardlaw heard his nephew start up the front stairs, hesitate and retrace his steps. He was making his way to the rear of the house.

Annie Kime stood at the sink when Clay entered.

"Oh, it's you!" she exclaimed with a smile of welcome. "I . . . Why, Mr. Clay! What's the matter? Ain't you feelin' good? Can I get you somethin'?"

"I'm all right, Annie. I'd like to talk to you a minute."

Annie Kime pulled a chair forward and motioned Clay to a seat.

"What's on your mind?" was her direct approach. "I'm listenin'."

"There's a lot on my mind, Annie." Clay thrust his hands in his trouser pockets and stared moodily at the shining linoleum under his feet. "You've been mighty nice to me since I've been here," he resumed slowly. "If you weren't too young, I'd say you couldn't have been nicer than my own mother."

"Shucks!" was the abrupt retort. "I'm plenty old enough to be your mother, Mr. Clay. I knew her long before you did. What's the matter?"

FRIDAY, JUNE 3, 1938

There seem to be, too, some countries in which majorities need to be protected from minorities.

Odd how some people can get along with kerosene lamps up to the very day that electric current becomes available.

The old-fashioned man who lit a match to find a gas leak has a son who lights a cigaret while the station attendant is filling the gasoline tank.

General Johnson's Advice.

SOME of the ideas presented by General Hugh Johnson in a recent talk at a meeting of the American Iron and Steel Institute, in New York, deserve more than passing notice. General Johnson is an independent, usually leaning a little toward the business side. His theme was co-operation of business with government. He had been checking up on the general situation and insisted on these points:

That business and industry "haven't any choice at all of going back to unregulated economic freedom under futile anti-trust laws. It can't be done. The change of popular opinion in this country toward governmental regulation has followed a great surge of popular opinion everywhere. The best you can expect is regulated freedom, like all the rest of the folks."

Industry should take "the middle course," he said, and accept collective bargaining with labor. He criticized both the industrial leadership and the "third New Deal" as he calls it, saying there is plenty of blame on both sides. But:

"There is an overwhelming popular determination against going back to the old deal so far as it involves any denial to the people of the new-found right and power of federal government to function politically in economic fields to the extent of reasonable regulation."

He urged industrialists to remove the popular idea that they are against everything the government does.

Many observers, with an indirect but real interest in this problem, agree with Charles M. Schwab of the Bethlehem Steel corporation, who announced that he was "deeply impressed" by this advice and that the steel industry "would do well to consider it."

Ordered to Leave the City.

YESTERDAY'S paper contained an item that told of a youthful offender being "ordered to leave the city" after pleading guilty to a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

A one-year workhouse sentence was suspended on condition the culprit leaves Mansfield and does not return.

While the practice of ordering undesirable characters out of town harks back to ancient times when some minor offenders were escorted outside the city gates, in these modern days it appears to serve no better purpose than to exchange certain types of offenders against the law.

When Mansfield sends such a person out of town, he or she naturally goes to some other town or city and repeats the offenses which were found objectionable here. And a percentage of the offscourings of other cities probably come here.

This make-shift form of pseudo-punishment is applied most frequently to sex offenders and perverts, in which cases it is especially important that some method of permanent segregation be devised, rather than allowing them freedom to prey on innocence in some other community where their abnormality can again be concealed for a time.

The next important advance step in criminology appears to hinge on provisions for the segregation and treatment of sex offenders, with authorization of such operative procedure as may be deemed advisable. Merely ordering that kind of people out of the city is scarcely a "good neighbor" policy toward other communities.

The Radio Standard of Living.

POPULARITY of the radio in the United States is evidenced by the estimate, based on surveys, that 26,666,500 families have radio receiving sets—or 82 per cent of the estimated total number of families in the entire country.

When it is considered that a number of things—food, clothing, shelter, medical attention and a variety of home needs for comfortable living—would naturally take precedence over a radio as necessities, it is heartening to realize that, even in the midst of what is regarded as a serious depression, 82 per cent of the families in the United States can afford to own and operate a radio.

It is also interesting to note that people of the United States own 80 per cent of the motor cars in use in the world, while having only 7 per cent of the world's population.

Except for the high costs of partisan politics, it would appear as a not too difficult or costly task for the fortunate 82 per cent of families in the United States to bring the under-privileged 18 per cent up to radio standards of living

Propose State Import Tax.

OHIO wine producers are disturbed about imports from California and are urging the state legislature to impose a prohibitive tax on them. Last year, they say, California shipped in 2,600,000 gallons of wine and sold it cheap "to kill their market." They propose to tax all wine from other states 50 cents a gallon.

Several states are said to have imposed such state tariffs, and a similar measure is pending in New York.

This may seem a reasonable proposal, to many citizens reared in the American tradition of protective tariff. It is only in recent years, however, that such barriers have been erected, or sought, except against foreign countries.

Have states really a legal right to impose interstate tariffs? A layman would suppose not, from the clause in the federal constitution which says that no state shall tax imports or exports "without the consent of congress," but he might be wrong about it.

As a matter of practical expediency, regardless of law, it is an open question whether any state could benefit, in general and in the long run, by such tariffs, even if they are constitutional.

Helium also exists in the sun—which should present no difficulties to Hitler in case he really wants some.

Keeping Step

—By LESLIE EICHEL

TAXES? The high taxes on undistributed profits and capital gains are expected to be restored next year or the year thereafter. President Roosevelt is expected to be the eventual winner. The bloc that forced their reduction, under the leadership of Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi, chairman of the senate finance committee, may speak for the larger business interests, but observers in the field believe that the mass of the people agree with President Roosevelt on the matter.

* * *

REORGANIZATION

Departmental reorganization also is expected to be achieved in 1939.

And even a modified supreme court bill is expected. Observers find the trend very much toward retirement of supreme court judges at 70.

A wages and hours bill of course is a certainty.

Thus, if such measures are put through, will it be "necessary," in the eyes of the New Dealers, for President Roosevelt to be "compelled" to be a candidate again in 1940?

Probably not. And, from the best information available, the president himself is "determined" not to be a candidate again.

But another matter enters the question: Who, then, will be the nominee?

* * *

"IMPOSSIBLE"

If, as conservatives of both parties and some business leaders suggest, a conservative Democrat be nominated and supported by leaders of both parties, then, indeed, will the president "have" to be a candidate again.

As a matter of fact, no such joint support ever has been accorded an American candidate for president—and it would mean nothing, anyway. The people who suggest it comprise less than 10 per cent of the voters, and even their 10 per cent will not switch parties.

But, aside from that impracticable suggestion, there can be the eventuality that the Democrats may choose a conservative to oppose a Republican conservative. It is against this eventuality that President Roosevelt, or the New Dealers, probably will prepare to fight

A Jesse Jones, for example, would mean a virtual nullification of the New Deal. Jesse Jones has been a fairly good chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation—but his political and social philosophy, and even his economic philosophy, is of a past school. He is a "log-cabin boy" who made good in a big way. But he made good as a banker. And no banker is likely to become president of the United States.

Jesse Jones is discussed here because he has been mentioned a great deal by anti-New Deal Democrats. If one suggests that he would not have the approval of the New Dealers, the answer is, "Roosevelt always is consulting him."

Yes, that is true One does consult bankers. But Mr. Roosevelt also consults Harry Hopkins, Robert Jackson, Henry Wallace, Thomas Corcoran and others, who are quite the contrary of Mr. Jones

* * *

DEPENDS ON ANTIS?

Whether Mr. Roosevelt will be "forced" to run again therefore depends, in the final analysis, on the opposition in the Democratic party. If that opposition decides that the New Deal must be exterminated that a conservative must be the presidential nominee of the party, then look out for a pro-Roosevelt cry from the country. It probably would be a genuine cry, too.

It is possible that, within a year, the New Dealers will decide upon one of their number to put forward, and that would imply support by Mr. Roosevelt—indirectly, of course. Mr. Roosevelt is not likely to endorse anyone

But can the New Dealers decide among themselves when everybody considers himself a possibility, on the one of their number to put forward?

If we had presidential primaries, the people themselves would decide But we haven't, thus there will be the usual maneuvering and strategy

Timely Editorial

To Have Real History.

Ohio is to have a real history. From time to time men have written histories of this state, or partial records, but this time the work is to be thorough, it will be prepared along the lines of modern historical research, and it is not in any sense a commercial undertaking. It is to be prepared under direction and control of the Ohio State Archaeological and Historical Society, and that means that the work will be done right.

Each volume of the history has been assigned to an expert in his field, a scholar and a real historian It will be no mere compilation of names and dates, but will reveal the life of our people in all its ramifications. The story of settlement, of wars, of achievement and of building civilization will, of course, be told

But, also, there will be attention to the people's religious, social, political, educational and art activities, in accordance with the best practice and procedure in writing histories today. — Ohio State Journal.

OUT OF THE TOMB

Line-Up Is Pro and Anti 'New Deal'

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON—When Senator Josiah W. Bailey of North Carolina declared that "that crowd (meaning President Roosevelt and his closest group of New Deal advisers) cannot run the Democratic party and win an election" undoubtedly he made a rather rash prediction.

This year's state and congressional campaigns are too young to justify so confident a prophesy concerning their result in general.

Primaries are all we will have up to Nov. 8. Even primaries may have considerable significance, but thus far (to be sure, we have had only a few of them) their verdicts have not been very decisive. Except in Florida, which was a foregone conclusion in advance, the breaks between Democrats and Republicans have been not far from 50-50. New Deal Democrats have not had everything their own way, but neither have anti-New Deal Democrats.

There has been on pronounced trend as yet in four or five different directions that might have been anticipated.

So Senator Bailey probably expresses hope rather than 100 per cent probability

* * *

BOTH SIDES SPLIT

There is this to be taken into account:

The Democrats are much worse split than the Republicans

The Republicans are somewhat split also. Senator Robert M. La Follette, who once was a Republican, now is a Progressive. Senator George W. Norris, who once called himself a Republican, now is an independent. Senator Hiram W. Johnson cannot be called an unqualified Republican.

Nearly all Republicans are more liberal than they used to be, like Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg.

But Vandenberg is enough half-and-half possibly to unite most of Republicanism under his banner—except maybe Norris and La Follette. He might annex some erstwhile Democrats likewise—such as Senators Millard E. Tydings, Bailey, Walter F. George and a few others.

The Democratic split, however, is wide open.

* * *

BITTER ANTIS

Anti-New Deal Democrats are as bitterly anti-Rooseveltian as are any Republicans—maybe more so

And the anti-New Deal Democrats constantly are becoming more anti-Rooseveltian—as witness expressions by Senators Bailey, George, Tydings, Byrd and Glass of Virginia, King of Utah, Pat Harrison and Burton K. Wheeler of Montana.

* * *

DON'T LIKE F. D. R. AIDES

Democratic hostility is not exclusively hostile to President Roosevelt

What makes party politicians boil is the thought that they are being dictated to, not by the White House itself, but by such unofficials as "Tommy the Cork," "Ben Cohen," "Jimmie" Roosevelt and "Charley" West.

* * *

STEWART'S VIEW

I do not find any fault with Secretary of the Interior Ickes' or Relief Administrator Hopkins' suggestions.

Ickes and Hopkins accept responsibility.

Hopkins, for example, tells how he'd vote in his old home state. I think that is his privilege, as a citizen, or ex-citizen.

But "Tommy the Cork," "Ben Cohen," and "young Jimmie?"

It's quite a lot like leaving it to Colonel House whether we ought to go into the World war or not.

* * *

DEMOCRATS CAN'T LOSE

But as to who will win in the coming election?

As a party, the Democrats will win

Mathematically they cannot lose in the senate. Theoretically they can lose in the house of representatives, but practically, no.

They can lose some seats, but not their majority.

* * *

NEW DEAL CAN LOSE

But the New Deal can lose.

It can lose a lot of seats to the Republicans.

And it can lose a lot of seats from New Deal to anti-New Deal Democrats

The parties are in process of realignment.

Two new politico-economic parties are opposing one another—not Democrats and Republicans.

Super-Power Permits Sought.

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—So awesome is the picture of 16 super-power radio stations dominating the air that the federal communications commission has shunted aside any immediate solution of the problem and may meet it by indirection.

Weeks ago 16 radio stations asked to go on the air with 500,000 watts power, 10 times as powerful as the largest commercial station now in operation—although WLW at Cincinnati has hit that high level experimentally for some time

Almost at once there were backstage repercussions on Capitol Hill among those members of congress who think federal operation is the ultimate solution of the radio problem. Needless to say the number of members advocating such control is not large but one told us privately that he would begin plugging for government ownership if super-power permits were granted.

* * *

Hearing at Hand.

THE 16 requests for super-power are still pending before the commission, but an agreement was brought about to postpone action upon them until the commission could hear from all other operators as well as public agencies interested in radio operation.

That hearing, ordered to begin June 6, looks good to last at least 10 days. While the 16 requests for super-power are not directly involved in the hearing, the commission left itself an opening by which it could handle them without acting directly on each application

Among the subjects for discussion at the hearing is the regulation which at present fixes 50,000 watts as the largest allowable commercial station power. One source pointed out that the commission might vote to retain the 50,000 watt limit, and so indirectly liquidate all the super-power applications except two requesting operation on an experimental basis. These are WLW at Cincinnati and WHO at Des Moines, which as yet has no license at all.

* * *

Sizing It Up.

A THREE-PHASE problem faces the commission. It is:

Engineering — Super-power stations raise international difficulties by crashing into wave bands used by foreign stations, especially in Canada and Mexico. Small stations in the United States complain also that big stations "blanket them out."

Economic—If the commission should grant a few super-power licenses, would these stations gobble up all the advertising, thus choking out the smaller stations sufficiently to result in monopoly?

Social and political—Should one owner be given control of such a "voice" as is represented in the potential nationwide spread of a 500,000 watt super-power station?

Accusations that the commission already is permitting an approach to monopoly in sanctioning chain systems such as National Broadcasting company, Mutual and Columbia have raised tender spots on the commission skin

But an argument is advanced from the other side that radio engineering has advanced far enough to justify super-power systems, and as to this business of social and political abuse—well, can't the commission wipe out any station at the end of six months by refusing to renew its license?

DAILY BIBLE THOUGHT

FAITH MAKES MEN HEROIC: None of these things move me, neither count I my life dear unto myself, so that I might finish my course with joy, and the ministry, which I have received of the Lord Jesus, to testify the gospel of the grace of God. — The Acts 20:24.

Listen, World!

Live and Let Live.

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

THEY had "a swell time" last night—the two City Fellers who've been visiting up here in the tall pines. For the first few days they found things pretty dull. Nothin' much to see but a lotta scenery . . . no one to talk to but sunburnt, six-foot gents with unfriendly slits for eyes, who mostly leaned against the nearest wall and spat in silent unison when said C. F.'s tried to strut their stuff. Backwoods hicks! Not worth wasting a smart guy's time on!

But yesterday somebody tipped them off to a new stunt, and last night they had themselves a time. It was 3 o'clock a. m., with the dark thinning toward dawn—and I was parking the portable and calling it a day—when they came crashing in, fulla gin and joy, to tell me what they'd been up to—and show me the results.

The "results" weren't particularly amusing, so far as I could see. Little, mangled bunches of bloody fur which had once been cottontail bunny rabbits. But the City Fellers whooped when they displayed them and told what "a keen time" they'd had.

Gosh, this had regular hunting wiped off the map. Shooting was old stuff—but here was a new thrill. All you had to do was hit for the highway in your car with your headlights turned on full. Naturally, being a warm spring night, the little cottontails were thicker than thieves. And you know how dumb cottontails are! Minute a headlight hits 'em they start running ahead of you—and keep it up till they drop! So all you needed to do was keep on driving and watch that idiot animal sprint itself to death! After that, you just picked 'em up, bashed its brains out—and got yourself all ready for a rabbit stew next day.

So said the City Fellers to me. We'll draw the veil over what I said to them.

Is it a true story? Do people really do things like this?

It is—and they do. And I hereby yield the floor to Charles H. Dawson of Detroit, who tells, far better than I can ever hope to do, what Regular People think of such practices.

"Fellow Readers—

"Have you ever seen a wounded deer, wallowing half submerged in a swamp, or a mallard with a wing torn off by buck-shot? Or ever witnessed a fur-bearing animal, FRANTICALLY GNAWING OFF ITS MANGLED PAW IN AN EFFORT TO ESCAPE THE TORTURES OF A STEEL-JAWED TRAP?

"As a gesture of 'kindness,' we toss a crust of bread to the sparrows — THEN GET OUT OUR GUNS FOR ANOTHER WEEK-END OF CARNAGE IN THE TIMBERLANDS! We fondly coddle an anemic Pekingese — AND WEAR FUR WRAPS MADE FROM THE PELTS OF ANIMALS THAT WERE SUBJECTED TO THE MOST EXCRUCIATING TORTURE DEVISED BY MAN!

"We CLAIM we are intelligent, tolerant, 'kind to animals.' Yet we create all kinds of excuses for destroying wild life. 'They eat our crops!' 'They strip our orchards!' is the cry.

"Whose crops? Whose orchards? Yours, perhaps, legally, but these helpless creatures you slaughter were 'First Settlers' on every acre.

"Our ancestors hunted for FOOD, but the modern nimrod usually has a swell-stocked larder, and merely kills FOR THE THRILL OF IT. If we ARE civilized, as we claim, it's time we outlawed the hunter, the trapper and the fur farms.

"LET'S TAKE THE PROFITS AND THE 'PLEASURE' OUT OF TORTURING WILD LIFE, and tack a sign 'Game Preserve—No Hunting Allowed' on every acre of thicket and timber!

"America needs more humanitarians like Atkinson, Baker, Rutledge—men who have set aside vast tracts of forest and stream as a sanctuary for wild life, where they may rear their young SAFE FROM THE GUNS OF THESE 'SPORTING' INDIVIDUALS WHO WOULD DESTROY THEM BY ANY FORM OF UNFAIR BRUTALITY THEY CAN CONTRIVE."

Charles H. Dawson,
7404 Dunedin Court,
Detroit, Mich.

In the name of one Boiling Mad Lady Ink Slinger . . . and of millions of helpless, bewildered little creatures of the earth and air . . . THANKS, C. H. D.! And if you should happen to come this way and want to take a pop at a couple of Bunny Butchers, just ask for this address and we'll have SOME LEGITIMATE SPORT!

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—There was an astonishing moment in a Brooklyn court the other afternoon, packed with drama and realism. A Malay seaman was to testify before a magistrate and tell what he knew of an attempt to smuggle 11 Chinese into the United States.

But when you testify in court in this country you first take the oath. You swear to tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, so help you God.

And that's where the color and the melodrama of the mystic Orient comes in. For Malays are Mohammedans and their conception of the diety differs from ours. And so an oath to our God can in no sense be binding to one of the Mohammedan faith.

* * *

BUT New York is prepared for emergencies of this sort. The first thing they did was send for Dr. Tassilo Adam and his sacred kris. This kris is a 14-inch dagger, or small sword, and it was presented to him long ago by the Sultan of Java. Dr. Adam always responds when some bewildered Malay arrives on these shores, illegally or otherwise, for he knows Malay and a dozen other strange eastern tongues, including Atjek, Battak, Bugi, Dyak, Lampong, Makassar, Nicobar, and even Rejang. Dr. Adam lives in Brooklyn now, but for 30 years he was chief ethnologist to the Dutch government in the East Indies.

It all started several weeks ago when a British freighter arrived in America with a group of Chinese on board. The captain was immediately indicted and with him Hassan Bin Ahmed, who is now chief government witness.

But to make it legal and binding and to impress properly upon the imagination of the man just how serious was the situation, Bin Ahmed had to be thrice sworn in, twice in the Mohammedan way and once in the orthodox American manner. This was why Dr. Adam was called in. The sight of a sacred kris is enough to bring any Mohammedan to respectful attention. Ahmed knelt or rather squatted in an attitude of prayer. Dr. Adam then touched the sacred kris lightly to his head. Prayers to Mohammed were mumbled. And then the trial was proper opened.

* * *

HOW it will turn out no' one knows, but the fact remains that 11 Chinese were illegally concealed in the hold of a ship. They will certainly be returned. The captain says he didn't know anything about them until he was at sea.

Dr. Adam gets one of these hurried calls about every four years. The last time, if I am correct, he was summoned by the officials was several years ago when a bewildered Malay, unable to speak English, was washed up on the shores of Ellis Island, unable satisfactorily to explain his presence. He was frightened and refused to say anything. But when Dr. Adam walked in with his sacred kris the man, whose name was Umar Thir Bin, fell in a heap at the doctor's feet, willing and anxious to tell all. This kris, it seems, is inlaid with meteoric iron, which comes from the heaven from which they believe their royal rulers descended.

How It Started

—By JEAN NEWTON

The Filthy Lucre.

One of our modern favorites, "the filty lucre"—favorite expression, I mean. And yet it is far from modern in its nature.

The word "lucre" originally meant riches, profit, in no ill sense, as its derivative, "lucrative," still means merely "yielding profit" without unfavorable implications.

But the "filthy lucre"—this has all the implications of all the ills that were ever caused by, or for money. All this we have from the Bible In the First Epistle of Paul the Apostle to Timothy, telling how bishops and deacons and their wives should be qualified, we find:

"2. A bishop then must be blameless, the husband of one wife, vigilant, sober, of good behaviour, given to hospitality, apt to teach:

"3. Not given to wine, no striker, not greedy of filthy lucre; but patient, not a brawler, not covetous."

Words That Live.

"How glad I am that you have come!"
Those words like music are,
As shining as some gay spring sun,
As lovely as a star.

"How glad I am!" They echo out,
They warm the heart, they give
New happiness, the lift of joy;
These words are words that live

Long after they are spoken . . . In
Some lonely afterwhile
They are recalled, set in a frame
Of welcoming eyes and smile.

BRIDES LACKING FOR COLONISTS IN EAST AFRICA

Men Outnumber Women About Two to One in Addis Ababa, Rome Informed.

(By United Press)

ROME — White men in Addis Ababa outnumber white women almost 2 to 1.

Out of a total white population of 16,950, white women total 5,296, or roughly 33 per cent of the total non-native inhabitants of the city.

Of 5,296 white women, 916 are non-Italians representing 26 different nationalities. As there are only 1,449 non-Italian men, the ratio in this group is more even.

Considering the fact that Addis Ababa is an African city which has only been open to restricted immigration for less than two years, the distribution of white men and women in the capital is relatively even. This, however, is no balm for the lonely white men there.

This condition is considered so grave that it has called forth editorial comment from Italian newspapermen.

A correspondent of the Turin Stampa offered statistics showing that in one year 11 births, 121 deaths and only seven marriages occurred among the Italians of Addis Ababa.

The same correspondent placed emphasis on the figure "seven," pointing out that efforts to find an eighth available bride would have been an impossible undertaking.

This observer, using the same statistical data, declared that 60 per cent of the Italian men in Ethiopia are bachelors.

The Italian government is doing its best to solve this problem. For some time now wives and future wives have been sent down periodically to join their husbands and husbands-to-be. In many cases single girls go down to work and find husbands, instead. The government feels that this is the only way to assure the future of the Italian race in the East African empire.

Books For Children

(Available at Mansfield Public Library)

One of the most endearing family's that we've read about, for a long time, is the Turner family in Greentree Downs by Margaret Ross.

The Turners were orphans, faced with adoption and separation, when a letter arived from their Uncle Andy, asking them to make their home with him, in faraway Australia. He sent them enough money for their fare, and warned them that he was not a rich man. The trip from Ohio to Australia was uneventful but many interesting things happened to them, once their feet were back on soil. Uncle Andy had had to go away on business, so the trip to his station was undertaken with some misgivings. One look at the wretched little shack made them realize how generous their uncle had been, and they determined to repay him by fixing it up.

Older boys and girls will get many a chuckle out of the adventures of Alice, Guy, Elizabeth and Sidge, and will probably want to start out immediately for Australia.

WOODPECKER UPSETS TOWN

MONMOUTH, Ore.—(U.P.)—A little redheaded woodpecker was responsible for many cold breakfasts here this morning. The bird flew into a high voltage transmission line and caused a transformer to burn out at 6:40 a. m. Three electricians worked one hour and a quarter to restore service.

SEES CURB FOR LABOR ACT FOES

Madden Says Denial of U. S. Contracts to Violators Enforcement Aid.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Chairman J. Warren Madden of the National Labor Relations board has declared that compliance with the Wagner act would be made "more prompt and less expensive" by legislation denying government contracts to firms which violate that act.

Madden told a house judiciary sub-committee there is "no incentive to an employer to comply with the law unless orders to pay workers back pay threaten to make continued violation costly.

"Sanctions" authorized by the present law, he said, have little effect on employers, where denial of the right of collective bargaining or maintenance of company unions are concerned, because the board has no power to enforce orders prohibiting such violations.

"It is not until after the circuit courts have made a determination in such cases that the law can become effective," Madden said. "In the meantime, a union may have been destroyed."

Madden recommended that a bill to make government contracts contingent on Wagner law observance be expanded to include contracts for the construction of all public works and to cover employers who violate the Labor Relations act, whether such violations occur on government business or not.

It's Odd

But It's Science.

WASHINGTON—"Don't try this while your wife is at home," says Dr. W. J. V. Osterhout, famous Rockefeller Institute biologist.

But when there is no cream, you can make some out of the butter. At least, he says, in principle it ought to work.

The trick is all due to emulsions. These are mixtures of two substances that don't mix. Drops of one substance become coated with films of the other.

Butter, Dr. Osterhout explains, is an emulsion in which the oil is on the outside of the drops. The inside of the butter drops is water. Cream is just the opposite. Water coats the outside of drops of oil.

This explains why cream, poured into coffee, will mix, for the water around the oil drops spreads them uniformly. Butter in coffee melts, but never mixes, because its water is all inside the oil films.

To change butter into cream, says Dr. Osterhout, it is only necessary to get the water on the outside of the oil drops. Recipe to be tried for this when the wife is away—

Put some butter and a lot of water in a cocktail shaker and shake well. Along with the butter and water must be some casein—the hard substance in milk. To obtain this throw in a little cheese. Maybe you could produce some "limburger cream."

GALLIPOLIS, O. —(U.P.)— The largest and probably the oldest grapevine in Ohio can be seen at the Ohio Hospital for Epileptics, here. The vine, which has attained a girth of 30 inches at a point 3 feet above the earth, was growing at the time Gallipolis was settled by the French in 1790.

BIGGEST CARGO

500,000 Bushels of Corn Loaded Lake Carrier for Record.

SUPERIOR, Wis.— (AP) —When the Canadian Steamship company grain carrier LeMoyne loaded a corn cargo of 500,000 bushels here recently, a new record for the Great Lakes was claimed. The cargo, weighing 14,000 tons and destined for export, was estimated to be the equivalent of a 12,500-ocre crop.

PRAGUE GIVEN NEW PROTESTS FROM BERLIN

Nazis Charge New Incidents of Mistreatment; Japs End Cabinet Shift.

(By Associated Press)

The Czechoslovakia-German situation which had wavered for two weeks between hot and mildly warm simmered anew today with a fresh protest from Berlin to Prague against new incidents in which members of Czechoslovakia's Germanic minority were said to have been mistreated, a high spot in the world's troubles.

Japan completed a drastic cabinet reorganization, Lieut-Gen. Seishiro Itagaki taking the war ministry, as Chinese defending the railway approach to Hankow appeared to be weakening under Japanese shells and bombs.

Launch New Raids.

Canton, South China metropolis, huddled for safety from a new air raid. Japanese planes bombed the vicinity of Taishatau station, where many refugees were camping.

Prime Minister Chamberlain announced new British protests against aerial bombardments in China and Spain in representations addressed to Tokyo and to the Burgos insurgent regime.

An opposition member of parliament asked if the British proposed to do anything "at all apart from holding up their hands in horror." To which the prime minister replied: "if we could hold up the hands of other people we certainly would do so."

With the Spanish nonintervention committee finally in accord on a plan to withdraw foreign soldiers from the "internationalized" civil war, a Spanish government spokesman in Paris admitted the "possibility" of British-French mediation.

In Paris and London it was believed that troop withdrawals would be impossible without a pause in the war which, despite strong government resistance on the Teruel-to-the-sea front, brought insurgent success near Albocacer near the coast.

The fall of Albocacer would open the way for a push southward along the Mediterranean on Castellon De La Plana and Valencia.

NAMED IN SUIT

Steel Plant Sued for $50,000 for Breach of Contract.

The Empire Sheet and Tin Plate company was named defendant today in a $50,174 judgment suit filed in Richland county common pleas court by Summer and company, Columbus.

Charging breach of contract involving orders for 12,800 tons of scrap iron for use at the Mansfield plant, the Columbus firm seeks to collect for the amount of materials the defendant allegedly refused to accept.

Ordered in March, April, May and June last year, the orders were delivered in part according to agreement, the petition states. Contrary to the agreement, however, the Empire company requested that shipment be withheld on a part of the order, the plaintiff contends.

The Columbus firm is represented by Attys. Weldon and Huston, Mansfield, and Arnold, Wright, Purpus and Harlor of Columbus.

FRANCO 'SORRY,' BRITISH TOLD

Insurgent General Answers Protest On Sinking Of Ships.

LONDON—(INS)—General Francisco Franco, Spanish insurgent leader, has expressed his regrets in reply to a British protest against the sinking of English ships in Spanish waters, it was disclosed today.

The protest pointed out three British vessels have recently been the targets of insurgent aerial bombs. Franco denied any ill intention toward British vessels and said he was "investigating" the incidents.

WASP BLAMED

Michigan Driver Fights Insect, Killed As Car Upsets.

BOWLING GREEN—(INS)—William A. Pinney, 58, Highland Park, Mich., was dead today, killed when his automobile overturned near Perrysburg as he fought a wasp which flew in the car window. His wife, Susan, 57, suffered internal injuries and was taken to a Perrysville hospital.

ACT TO HASTEN ROAD TRANSFERS

Commissioners, Engineer Go to Bucyrus to Confer on Right-of-Ways.

Acting to speed up the proposed transfer of three county roads to the state highway department, Richland county commissioners and County Engineer Howard C. Sword were in Bucyrus today to confer with the Crawford county commissioners and engineer on right-of-ways for the roads.

Proposed for transfer to the state highway system more than a year ago, the roads include a total of six miles in Richland county and considerable mileage in Crawford county.

Details necessary for the shift have been cleared up in this county, Sword said, but the transfer has been delayed because of disputes over Crawford county right-of-ways, he said.

Sword said he had been assured by state highway officials that the roads would be accepted into the state system by July 1, provided the requirements are met.

Roads included in the transfer application are the Shelby-Bucyrus road, 3 miles; Lexington-Galion road, 2 miles and the Shelby-Tiro road, 1 mile. Mileage figures are for Richland county only.

Another county route, the Shelby-Johnsville road, will be taken over by the state as soon as Morrow county complies with the right-of-way requirements, Sword added. The route has a 10-mile length in Richland county.

PROBE LOOTING OF TWO FIRMS

Police Find Safe Broken Open at Engraving Concern; Cigar Store Robbed of $3.

Police today were investigating the looting of two downtown business establishments in the past 24 hours—the third in as many days.

Officers were called to the Mansfield Photo Engraving company, 119 North Walnut street, at 10:30 p. m. yesterday when a window was discovered broken at the rear of the building.

Investigation disclosed that the office of the firm had been entered and the safe broken into, and papers scattered over the floor. Police said there was no money in the strong box and that Philip Dickerson, secretary-treasurer of the company, told them that a metal box containing personal papers of C. D. Sherard, president, was missing.

Less than two hours later, police cruising on North Main street, only two blocks away, discovered a side window at the Musille and Saprano cigar store, 167 North Main street, broken. They said that $3 in pennies had been taken from the cash register and an unsuccessful attempt had been made to open a marble machine.

HAWAII-BOUND

Flying Boat With Scientists Aboard Starts For New Guinea.

SAN DIEGO, Calif—(AP)—A 14-ton flying boat sped six men toward Hawaii today, initial stop on an 8,000-mile course for New Guinea in the first trans-Pacific flight in quest of museum exhibits.

Awaiting the plane at Hollandia, New Guiena, is a party of museum scientists which will seek rare specimens of plant and animal life from the jungles surrounding Lake Habbema, 12,500 feet above sea level.

A Farmer's Diary

By Calvin A. Byers

TWENTY years or more ago it meant isolation to live upon a farm where only narrow dirt roads existed. The horse and buggy or the farm wagon were the only means of transportation and when, in spring, the roads were left without a solid bottom, I often rode a draft horse to run errands for ourselves and our neighbors.

Many times, during this season of the year, on much-traveled dirt roads, I saw a wagon loaded with goods from town mired down in deep ruts until the axles drug upon the crusted surface and made it impossible for the team to pull out. If this happened late in the evening and help could not be had, the farmer unhitched his weary, muddy team, put the most necessary articles on the horses' backs then jumped on himself and rode home.

To live ten miles from town, or even less, far in a narrow, rutted lane, meant several months of lonely living. The rural mail would be delivered only on improved roads. Sometimes the mail man left it at houses nearest those he could not reach. The radio was not a common household instrument. The rural churches postponed their meetings for more settled weather.

In this last quarter of a century, a greater change is wrought than one can realize. Almost every country road is graveled now, the main highways are broad and smooth and reach from coast to coast. Phones and radios are seen in almost every rural home. Electric current stands a ready servant to the farmer. The rural mail comes to his very door, and often he receives the daily paper, delivered by news service, from one to two hours after it is printed.

I want to live in the country, where I can have all the fine advantages — clean thoroughfares, running water, a well-kept lawn, a modern car — in short, all the fine conveniences a city man possesses.

But I do not have to listen to my neighbor's loud radio, have his pet dog run over my fresh made flower bed, or hear the neighborhood tomcats let out their nightly screams to disturb my slumber. No, I would rather hear the solitary night owl call from the nearby woods, or listen to the quail's first early note, or faintly see the rabbit dart across the road before the dawn.

He said it was also learned that the man had spent a term on a Georgia chain gang several years ago.

Zalinsky was captured late Wednesday by Bates and Detectives E. C. Fuller, Lee J. Remy and Oscar Krupp at the home where he was staying on Sycamore street, after his expensive car was sighted near the house by Lieut. Bruce Friday.

Friday said he had a "tip" that the car bearing Indiana license plates was seen near the school during the time of the robbery. The officers said the man had his bags all packed and was ready to leave town at the time of his arrest.

Included in his baggage, police said, was a complete kit of safe-cracking tools.

In the Piqua robbery, the man was said to have obtained $300 in dimes and nickles from the school safe. A bag containing the loot was found in his room by detectives, according to police.

O.S.R. FUGITIVE BACK IN CELL

Inmate Who Fled May 21 Captured In Toledo.

A Mansfield reformatory inmate who escaped from the Osborne honor camp, Huron county, on May 21, was back at the institution today following his return from Toledo by reformatory guards.

The fugitive is Fred Clark, 24, received at the reformatory from Lucas county, May 28, 1937, on a charge of burglary. He is under sentence from one to 15 years.

Superintendent Arthur L. Glattke said Clark was captured by Toledo authorities when he made a visit to his home. The usual penalty of two years will be added to his sentence as penalty for his escape, Glattke said.

RITES SUNDAY FOR VETERAN

MILLERSBURG—Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Sunday from the Killbuck residence for Joseph W. Carpenter, 63, a Spanish American War veteran, who died Thursday morning. The American Legion and the Spanish American War Veterans will be in charge and Rev. O. R. Clary of the Church of Christ will officiate. Burial will be in the Killbuck cemetery.

Mr. Carpenter was never married and the only near survivors are three sisters, Mrs. John Baker, Logansport, Ind.; Mrs. Mary Hune and Miss Emma Carpenter of Killbuck, and a brother, Wilson Carpenter, also of Killbuck.

4 KILLED, 6 HURT

Martinez, Dance Band Leader, Near Death After Crash.

STEPHENVILLE, Tex.—(INS)—The head on collision of a truck and chartered bus that killed four persons including two show girls, left six other victims in the hospital with serious injuries today. A dozen more were slightly hurt.

The bus was crowded with 24 members of Eddie Martinez' orchestra, a popular dance band in the southwest. Martinez suffered a fractured skull and was given only a slight chance to live.

LUCIANO LOSES APPEAL

ALBANY—(INS)—The court of appeals today denied a motion for re-argument of the appeal of Charles "Lucky" Luciano, erstwhile New York City vice lord, who is serving a 30 to 50-year sentence in Dannemora prison.

SENATE BATTLE ON RECOVERY BILL EXTENDED

Hoped for Vote Fails But New Dealers Hail Victory in Amendment Controversy.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — The senate fight over the administration's $3,422,000,000 relief bill went into an extra round today.

Although administration forces had expected a final vote last night, senators took so much time discussing controversial amendments that leaders left the debate unfinished and recessed shortly after 10 p. m.

They had just won — by two votes—a battle against an amendment by Senator Hatch (D.,N. M.) to restrict political activities of WPA employees. Anti-administration Democrats and Republicans lined up for the proposal, but Democratic Leader Barkley of Kentucky rallied 39 votes against it to 37 for. Senator Bulkley (D., Ohio) voted for it.

The amendment would have required dismissal of any WPA administrative worker who used his authority or influence to interfere with a political convention, a primary or a general election.

"If we build up a system in which we can use funds out of the treasury to control the vote of the people," Hatch told the senate, "then democracy is dead."

Hits Discrimination.

"This amendment," rejoined Barkley, "would take the federal employe and tie him to a tree, but it would leave the state employe free to roam at will."

The proposal was rejected after administration supporters, on a voice vote, tossed out an amendment to restrict PWA power activities. That amendment, advanced by the appropriations committee and bearing the enthusiastic endorsement of the private utilities industry, was opposed by President Roosevelt.

Barkley told the senate, however, that the president would take a middle-of-the-road course in approving PWA allotments to duplicate privately-owned utility plants. The amendment would have forbidden such allotments.

The majority leader, reading a statement authorized by the White House, said Mr. Roosevelt would make no power allocations until municipalities had in good faith made "fair and reasonable" offers to purchase existing utility systems.

Earlier, the senate voted to give the PWA $965,000,000 for loans and grants under the "pump priming" program—the same sum approved by the house but $100,000,000 more than that advocated by the senate appropriations committee.

The chamber beat down 56 to 17 a proposal by Senator Lodge (R., Mass) to add a half billion to the $1,425,000,000 WPA appropriation and to strike out "pump priming" features of the bill.

While consideration of this and preceding amendments brought some of the most vigorous debate of the session, it was the Hatch proposal that aroused the greatest argument. The members discussed everything from the coming Iowa primary to the question of whether Indians voted for Senator Chavez in New Mexico.

DRIVER HURT

GALION—An automobile collision Thursday morning at Atwood and Union streets caused injuries to Lawrence Parcher of South Boston street. Parcher had a cut on the arm which required eight stitches to close. His car, and a truck belonging to Weithman Brothers and driven by Earl Eidt, collided. Parcher's car was badly damaged. It also skidded into a pole after the collision.

LABOR GROUPS TO CONFER HERE

District Non-Partisan League Expected to Endorse Candidates at Meet.

Delegates from six counties will arrive in Mansfield tomorrow to attend the annual convention of Labor's Non-Partisan league of Richland county at Delano hall, North Bowman street.

J. R. Harnly, president of the Richland county league, said the one-day convention will open at 10 ... m. with the registration of delegates and visitors from Knox, Licking, Delaware, Coshocton, Ashland and Richland counties, which make up the 17th congressional district.

Principal speaker at the convention will be John Owens, state chairman of Labor's Non-Partisan league, and Elmer O. Fehlhaber, Cleveland, secretary of the state organization.

Following election of officers at the afternoon business session, Harnly said, the group will make their endorsements of the various candidates on both tickets in the 17th congressional district and the 17th-29th senatorial district for the primaries Aug. 2.

GIVE GAS RATE SECOND READING

SHELBY — City council will give the second reading to the new gas rate ordinance which covers a five-year period with rates approximately the same as those in the expired contract Monday night at its regular session in the city hall.

The first reading of the ordinance passed by a vote of 3 to 2, with Charles Swanger and John Chew opposing. Voting in favor of the contract which retains the controversial "sandbag" feature and increases rates for the last two years were Kenneth Rothlisberger, C. E. Morris and Chester Bell.

MARRIOTTS SUE IN TRAFFIC CASE.

Prosecutor, Wife Ask $5,000 Damages From Lumber Firm as Result of Accident.

Two damage suits totaling $5,088 had been filed in common pleas court today by County Prosecutor Glenn W. Marriott and his wife, Mrs. Rhea Marriott, as the result of a traffic accident last Feb. 28 in which Mrs. Marriott suffered injuries.

Bringing their actions against the Tinkey Lumber company, Mansfield, the plaintiffs seek to collect $4,500 for Mrs. Marriott's injuries and $588 for damages to the prosecutor's automobile, doctor bills and incidental expenses incurred as a result of the accident.

Basis of the suits was the collision of the car driven by Mrs. Marriott with a truck operated for the defendant company by G. Lee Cairns. The crash occurred at Edgewood and Andover roads in Woodland, near the Marriott home.

Mrs. Marriott received a nose injury in the crash which hampers her breathing, her petition states. She also suffered bruises on her head, chest and left shoulder and a sprained back, she contends.

The plaintiffs are represented by Attys. Weldon and Huston.

PLEADS GUILTY

Bellville Man Held on Bad Check Indictment.

Arraigned in common pleas court this morning on an indictment for issuing checks without funds, Levi Young, 53, of Bellville, pleaded guilty before Judge C. H. Huston and was returned to the county jail to await sentence at 9 a. m. Saturday.

Young was arrested at Bellville on a secret indictment returned last week by the county grand jury. Deputy Sheriff Glenn Freeman said Young had passed more than a dozen checks in Mansfield and Fredericktown without having any funds in the bank to cover them. Most of them were for about $4 each and were drawn on the Farmers bank at Bellville, Freeman said.

Young, it was learned, is on probation from Morgan county where he was convicted on a bad check charge, but county authorities said he probably would not be returned there until he serves any sentence that may be imposed here.

URGES 30-HOUR WEEK IN MINING

UMW Head Tells Conference Mechanization Would Cut 98,000 From Payrolls.

(By United Press)

GENEVA, Switzerland—A. D. Lewis of the United Mine Workers of America told the world coal conference that mechanization of mines within a few years will cost the jobs of approximately 98,000 U. S. miners and advocated the six-hour day, 30-hour week to solve the problem.

Lewis, brother of Chairman John L. Lewis of the committee for industrial organization, declared adoption of the shorter work week would add about $95,000,000 annually to the coal operators' pay roll, an increase of approximately five per cent in the cost of production.

Present contracts between the UMWA and most of the nation's coal operators provide for a seven-hour day, 35-hour week.

More than 61.7 per cent of U. S. miners earned less than $1,000 in 1935, according to department of labor statistics, Lewis said. He added that 39.6 per cent earned less than $800 and 22.2 per cent earned les sthan $600. The average earning of all bituminous coal miners, he said, was $917.

Relief Tax Bill Faces Crucial Assembly Test Today

LAWMAKERS TO VOTE ON CITY LEVY PROGRAM

Observers See Slim Chance to Pass Measure to Help Urban Centers Meet Problems.

BULLETIN

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—The house taxation committee by a 14 to 6 vote today reported favorably the Almendinger bill enabling cities to levy for poor relief purposes until July 1, 1939, taxes that may now be imposed only by the state.

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—Two major relief bills allowing cities to levy taxes now imposed only by the state and to appropriate $1,000,000 or $2,000,000 for loans to distressed counties faced crucial tests in the house of representatives today.

House leadership downed movements to bring both plans to the floor yesterday, insisting that final committee action and a vote on the floor be withheld until today.

Strong Opposition.

Facing extremely formidable opposition, the Almendinger bill empowering local subdivisions to enter tax fields now reserved to the state to enable cities to finance their share of relief costs was to be reported to the floor by the taxation committee.

Although its present blanket scope may be restricted, house leaders admitted its chances for approval in any form were slim. This measure has been described as the "keystone" of the program devised by the administration and city officials.

The finance committee was to revise the Laderman-De Righter bill with expectation that it would reduce from $2,000,000 to $1,000,000 the amount to be appropriated for loans to hard-pressed urban centers. There was a possibility that a prolonged wrangle develops over the Almendinger measure, the loan bill may be put over until tomorrow or Monday.

Needs Two-Thirds Vote.

To be of value both bills must be passed as emergency legislation requiring a two-thirds vote to make them effectively immediately. In addition a two-thirds vote is required for suspension of the rules to bring them up for immediate consideration. Even should the Almendinger bill pass the house, its approval in the senate appeared doubtful.

With administration fiscal officers arguing that money for loans is not available from the general revenue fund, some members may propose that loans be financed by transfers from such funds as those of the industrial commission, or the liquor and highway departments.

Anti-Davey legislators charged the administration was attempting to stall off enactment of the loan bill which provides for repayment of advances in six monthly installments from future sales tax allocations.

Attorney R. J. Nichols has just returned from Ft. Sill, Okla., where he attended military school for three months and had the unique experience of studying modern warfare in the same class with three Chinese officers. Ft. Sill, considered one of the finest schools on field artillery in the world, annually attracts army officers from other nations. Nichols, as captain of Battery D, 134th F. A., was one of two men selected by the state and sent by the federal government to the school. He is the first Mansfield man to be chosen since Major Helga Ekedahl went in 1931. The Chinese officers were intensely interested and studious in classes on modern warfare and equipment, according to Nichols.

The boxes which will be used for storing books for the summer were all stained, varnished and stenciled in 40 hours.

Antics of a Killdeer bird is causing some amusement for golfers at Possum Run this season. The bird has a nest of three eggs in the middle of the 18th fairway, and it does what looks like an attempt to attract the golfers from the nest by going through a series of gymnastics with a plaintive cry about 10 yards away. But the bird has no need to fear any disturbance. Some golfer placed a big rock behind the nest toward the tee to protect it against destruction by flying balls.

SINGS ON WAY TO BE HANGED

Ex-Radio, Night Club Songster Pays With Life for Attack on Kentucky Woman.

(By Associated Press)

COVINGTON, Ky.—Harold Van Venison of Aiken, S. C., 33-year-old colored former radio and night club entertainer, was hanged in the courtyard of Covington's city-county building at 5:38 a. m. today for a criminal attack upon a young Covington white woman.

He was pronunced dead of strangulation 16 minutes later.

To the accompaniment of an accordion played by a Salvation Army worker, Van Venison sang a spiritual, "Steal Away, Jesus," as he mounted the gallows and then, Sheriff Henry Berndt said, admitted the attack which previously he had denied.

It was the state's last legal hanging. Death in the electric chair was substituted early this year as the penalty for criminal attack, as it is for murder.

Newspapermen were barred from the hanging scene, but walked with the prisoner from his third-floor cell to a tunnel leading into the courtyard, around which cordons of police, armed with machine guns and tear gas bombs, had been placed.

"So long, boys," he smiled. Van Venison, captured last fall in Aiken, was dressed in white.

CHICAGO SUSPECT CONFESSES BRICK SLAYINGS OF 4 WOMEN

(By United Press)

CHICAGO—Robert Nixon, 18, colored, who first came under police scrutiny when he was six, sat hunched over a desk in police headquarters today and calmly dictated a confession of his crimes, which included the slayings of at least four women and a girl during the past two years.

He has beaten to death three women in Chicago and a woman and her daughter in Los Angeles, he confessed.

His victims were Mrs. Florence Thompson Castle, attacked and slain in her Chicago hotel, June 28, 1936; Anna Kutcha, 18-year-old student nurse, attacked and slain at the Chicago hospital, Aug. 21, 1937; Mrs. Edna Worden and her 12-year-old daughter, Marguerite, stripped and slain in their Los Angeles home, Aug. 14, 1937, and Mrs. Florence Johnson, 35, mother of two children, bludgeoned in her bed May 27, 1938.

In each case the victim's skull was crushed with a brick. All were slain in their beds during the early morning hours.

Nixon drew sketches of two Chicago hotel rooms where he had assaulted women and another of the Nurses' home where he killed Miss Kutcha.

Authorities will question him further today after he re-enacts the Kutchal slaying. They said he was first identified with the Worden crime because of its similarity to the Chicago slayings and by fingerprints found on a milk bottle outside the Worden apartment. They said they would question him also about the attack-slaying of Mrs. Rose Valdez, which occurred in Los Angeles in May, 1934.

Nixon made an incomplete confession of the Johnson and Castle murders three days ago.

BEAUTY'S BODY FOUND STUFFED IN CEDAR CHEST

Woman, 38, Was Slain 5 Days Ago, Coroner Says; Suspect Seen Boarding Bus.

(By International News Service)

SYRACUSE, N. Y.—Police were engaged today in a statewide search for an unemployed telegraph operator in connection with the trunk murder of 38-year-old Mrs. Laura Krenrich, attractive beauty parlor operator.

Mrs. Krenrich's brutally battered body, bound in blankets and ropes and with a bible at her feet, was found stuffed into a cedar chest in a closet of her home here.

Police are searching for Larry Gassney, also known as Larry Gough, who had been living at the Krenrich home, according to neighbors. A brother of Mrs. Krenrich, who had been estranged from her husband, said he saw Gassney, an unemployed telegraph operator, board a bus for New York city last night.

Dead Since Sunday.

A coroner's examination showed Mrs. Krenrich had been dead since Sunday, and listed a fractured skull as the cause of death. The dead woman last was seen alive on Saturday night by patrons of her beauty parlor.

Relatives said they telephoned Mrs. Krenrich on Sunday but were told by Gassney, who answered, that she was out of town. He attened a family picnic with them that day, they said.

Nathan Bronstein, a furniture dealer, told police he had been called by Gassney to the Krenrich home on Tuesday and was asked about buying the furniture. When he came to the bedroom, Bronstein said, Gassney stood between him and the closet door and refused to let him enter, saying:

"No, No. There is nothing in here."

Police said they also were checking addresses of men in New York, Philadelphia and other eastern cities, found in Mrs. Krenrich's address book.

Earl Nichols, a police officer and neighbor, found the woman had been fitted into the trunk in such a manner that the body was on its head.

DIES AT AGE 54

Mrs. Catherine Gilde Lived in City 31 Years.

Mrs. Catherine Gilde, 54, of 34 Prescott street, died at her home early today following a lingering illness. A resident of Mansfield 31 years, Mrs. Gilde was born in Hungary, Sept. 19, 1883.

Surviving are her husband, Jacob; five daughters, Mrs. Michael Vogel, Mrs. Anton Leitenberger and Mrs. Jacob Hoff of Mansfield and Anna and Helen at home; a son, Jacob at home; her mother, Mrs. Teresa Eichoss of Mansfield; two sisters, Mrs. Nicholas Schemine and Mrs. Anton Keipp of Mansfield; three brothers, Nicholas Eichoss of Mansfield and John and Sam of Hungary, and five grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at St. Peter's Catholic church at 10:30 a. m. Monday with Rev. R. C. Goebel officiating. Burial will be in the Mansfield Catholic cemetery. The body will remain at the home until the time of services.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Why Shouldn't Officials Pay Back Taxes? They're No Better Than Others

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—Senator Green of Rhode Island is alarmed by the prospect that millions of state, county and municipal employes, hitherto exempt from the federal income tax, may now be asked to pay not only their current taxes but arrears, with interest.

The Supreme Court split a hair last week, holding that the employes of the New York Port Authority must pay the tax. The United Press says the Treasury interprets this to mean that all state employes are thus brought within the great, big, happy family of taxpayers. This interpretation doubtless includes county and municipal help as well. For convenience, it is customary to refer to the whole exempt class as state employes.

Senator Green apparently favors some sort of amnesty as to arrears and interest, and it is reported that the Treasury does not intend to be harsh. That is nice of the Treasury, but habitual taxpayers will naturally wonder when this feeling of sweetness first came over the catchpolls and whether it will benefit other classes.

* * *

The recipients of this proposed grace are mainly politicians. They include, of course, great numbers of fairly diligent, obscure employes who receive low salaries and would suffer much to scratch up the money for back taxes. But they include, also, thousands of judges, commissioners, mayors, sheriffs and strictly parasitic functionaries who draw big salaries and could pay, if pursued, with no worse hardship than other citizens suffer from strict interpretation of the law.

There is never any evidence that a private citizen's distress touches the heart of the Treasury in similar circumstances, and, strictly speaking, it shouldn't. But, strictly speaking, the Treasury is entitled to its pound of flesh from the public employes, little and big.

The amnesty would amount to a sizable cash gift to thousands of well-to-do officials and former officials of the states and their subdivisions, including too many who never did a lick of work to earn their public pay and used their official powers to extort fortunes through the sale of insurance, concrete, brick and tile, office supplies, saloon materials and dance tickets.

* * *

It is touching to read of Senator Green's solicitude for the mental peace and economic security of the political officeholder and to hear that the Treasury does not intend to be harsh.

It seems impossible that this can be the same Treasury which slaps assessments on private citizens admittedly in excess of any legitimate tax to guarantee the payment of disputed items which may be decided in the taxpayer's favor after legal proceedings more costly than the claims themselves. And it almost defies belief that this humane bureau, with the gentle sympathy for politicians, can be the same which forbids a distressed widow to dispose of her late husband's old shoes, hats and golf sticks until an official second-hand dealer can appraise them as high as the law allows, in an effort to throw the estate into higher brackets and collect on these valueless relics more than they cost new.

It is said the Treasury shrinks from detailed accountancy and litigation in these [illegible] taxpayers in other classes have lived under the rule that the Treasury will spend 75 cents for accountancy and lawyers to get back $1 in taxes. The same rule would yield at least 25 per cent for the politicians' dues as profit and, more important, would put them in the habit of making returns—an experience which would be good for their citizenship.

Hollywood Speaks—

By ROBBIN COONS

The co-stars are Katharine Hepburn and Cary Grant, here involved in an exchange of ideas that is purposely not so brittly clever as it was in Philip Barry's original stage play and in the Harding film version. Its jibes at vast wealth are as sharp as ever, but leavened occasionally — with the perspective of eight years which have not been too rich for the majority of customers—by admissions that money, while not all-important, is pretty nice.

Grant is the everyday fellow who falls for the daughter (Doris Nolan) of a Croesus (Henry Kolker). Grant learns about the relationship after they're engaged, but having just cleaned up a tidy sum himself it is his idea to take a long vacation while he's young enough to enjoy it, return later to make more money. The girl and her father can't see that view, think life is for making millions and more of them, but the boy is abetted by his prospective sister-in-law (Miss Hepburn). In the final scenes, faced with a choice between the fiancee's point of view and his own, he chooses—well, K. Hepburn is his co-star. The role, played with a slightly pixilated grace, is probably Hepburn's best—at any rate since "Little Women." George Cukor directed, and all the supporting players (Lew Ayres, Edward Everett Horton, Binnie Barnes, Jean Dixon, and Henry Daniell) distinguish themselves, with Ayres especially surprising as the stewing, stewed young brother.

Enjoyable Hokum.

"Little Miss Thoroughbred" is one of those pictures that, considered artistically, amount to little more than hokum tried and true. Considered otherwise, it's quite enjoyable if you like a good sentimental cry.

It's about an orphan child who annexes as dream-daddy a tough gambler (John Litel) and soon finds herself a lucky mascot for the horserace meanderings of Litel. Ann Sheridan and Frank McHugh. Reminiscent in some respects of "Little Miss Marker," the picture that spurted Shirley Temple to fame, this film has 5-year-old Janet Chapman as its principal charm, and may do the same for the new tyke.

Not pretty, but plenty cute and improving in performance as the film unreels, little Miss Chapman can be counted a Shirley of the future. John Farrow directed.

Some Good Acting.

"Kidnaped"—from the Robert Louis Stevenson story—is happier on the screen than "Ebb Tide," the other recent Stevenson tale in celluloid. But the total effect, for all its moments of interest, is diffuse and weak, and although it has elements—arising from Scottish rebellion against English rule mainly—that should be exciting, the occasional excitement peters out.

There is, however, fine production, and good performances by Warner Baxter, Freddie Bartholomew, and Miles Mander (as David Balfour's scheming uncle). The new girl, Arleen Whelan, is appealing and may be rated a potential "find"—although not on this little-to-do performance. Alfred Werker directed.

Relief Tax Bill Faces Crucial Assembly Test Today

LAWMAKERS TO VOTE ON CITY LEVY PROGRAM

BULLETIN

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—The house taxation committee by a 14 to 6 vote today reported favorably the Almendinger bill enabling cities to levy for poor relief purposes until July 1, 1939, taxes that may now be imposed only by the state.

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—Two major relief bills allowing cities to levy taxes now imposed only by the state and to appropriate $1,000,000 or $2,000,000 for loans to distressed counties faced crucial tests in the house of representatives today.

House leadership downed movements to bring both plans to the floor yesterday, insisting that final committee action and a vote on the floor be withheld until today.

Strong Opposition.

Facing extremely formidable opposition, the Almendinger bill empowering local subdivisions to enter tax fields now reserved to the state to enable cities to finance their share of relief costs was to be reported to the floor by the taxation committee.

Although its present blanket scope may be restricted, house leaders admitted its chances for approval in any form were slim. This measure has been described as the "keystone" of the program devised by the administration and city officials.

The finance committee was to revise the Laderman-De Righter bill with expectation that it would reduce from $2,000,000 to $1,000,000 the amount to be appropriated for loans to hard-pressed urban centers. There was a possibility that a prolonged wrangle develops over the Almendinger measure, the loan bill may be put over until tomorrow or Monday.

Needs Two-Thirds Vote.

To be of value both bills must be passed as emergency legislation requiring a two-thirds vote to make them effectively immediately. In addition a two-thirds vote is required for suspension of the rules to bring them up for immediate consideration. Even should the Almendinger bill pass the house, its approval in the senate appeared doubtful.

With administration fiscal officers arguing that money for loans is not available from the general revenue fund, some members may propose that loans be financed by transfers from such funds as those of the industrial commission, or the liquor and highway departments.

Anti-Davey legislators charged the administration was attempting to stall off enactment of the loan bill which provides for repayment of advances in six monthly installments from future sales tax allocations.

Others chosen were Robert Pfeifer, deputy grand knight; Richard Kelley, chancellor; Edmund H. Wagner, recording secretary; Nicholas Colangelo, warden; George Stuhldreher, treasurer; Raymond C. Straub, trustee; Theodore Pagani, advocate; John Shill, inside guard, and Daniel Gleason, outside guard. Stuhldreher was re-elected treasurer for the 27th consecutive term and Straub was re-named trustee for a three-year term.

The new officers will be installed in July.

The council went on record at last evening's meeting protesting against the showing in Mansfield of the controversial movie, "The Birth of a Baby."

Mrs. Diebler was born Feb. 11, 1861, in Crawford county. She is survived by two sons, Walter of Bucyrus and Milton of Whetstone township; two brothers, Henry Shumaker and Silas Shumaker, both of Galion; two sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Heimlen of Sulphur Springs and Mrs. Catherine Gatner of Morrow county, and six grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

BEAUTY'S BODY FOUND STUFFED IN CEDAR CHEST

Woman, 38, Was Slain 5 Days Ago, Coroner Says; Suspect Seen Boarding Bus.

(By International News Service)

SYRACUSE, N. Y.—Police were engaged today in a statewide search for an unemployed telegraph operator in connection with the trunk murder of 38-year-old Mrs. Laura Krenrich, attractive beauty parlor operator.

Mrs. Krenrich's brutally battered body, bound in blankets and ropes and with a bible at her feet, was found stuffed into a cedar chest in a closet of her home here.

Police are searching for Larry Gassney, also known as Larry Gough, who had been living at the Krenrich home, according to neighbors. A brother of Mrs. Krenrich, who had been estranged from her husband, said he saw Gassney, an unemployed telegraph operator, board a bus for New York city last night.

Dead Since Sunday.

A coroner's examination showed Mrs. Krenrich had been dead since Sunday, and listed a fractured skull as the cause of death. The dead woman last was seen alive on Saturday night by patrons of her beauty parlor.

Relatives said they telephoned Mrs. Krenrich on Sunday but were told by Gassney, who answered, that she was out of town. He attened a family picnic with them that day, they said.

Nathan Bronstein, a furniture dealer, told police he had been called by Gassney to the Krenrich home on Tuesday and was asked about buying the furniture. When he came to the bedroom, Bronstein said, Gassney stood between him and the closet door and refused to let him enter, saying:

"No, No. There is nothing in here."

Police said they also were checking addresses of men in New York, Philadelphia and other eastern cities, found in Mrs. Krenrich's address book.

Earl Nichols, a police officer and neighbor, found the woman had been fitted into the trunk in such a manner that the body was on its head.

DIES AT AGE 54

Mrs. Catherine Gilde Lived in City 31 Years.

Mrs. Catherine Gilde, 54, of 34 Prescott street, died at her home early today following a lingering illness. A resident of Mansfield 31 years, Mrs. Gilde was born in Hungary, Sept. 19, 1883.

Surviving are her husband, Jacob; five daughters, Mrs. Michael Vogel, Mrs. Anton Leitenberger and Mrs. Jacob Hoff of Mansfield and Anna and Helen at home; a son, Jacob at home; her mother, Mrs. Teresa Eichoss of Mansfield; two sisters, Mrs. Nicholas Schemine and Mrs. Anton Keipp of Mansfield; three brothers, Nicholas Eichoss of Mansfield and John and Sam of Hungary, and five grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at St. Peter's Catholic church at 10:30 a. m. Monday with Rev. R. C. Goebel officiating. Burial will be in the Mansfield Catholic cemetery. The body will remain at the home until the time of services.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Why Shouldn't Officials Pay Back Taxes? They're No Better Than Others

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—Senator Green of Rhode Island is alarmed by the prospect that millions of state, county and municipal employes, hitherto exempt from the federal income tax, may now be asked to pay not only their current taxes but arrears, with interest.

The Supreme Court split a hair last week, holding that the employes of the New York Port Authority must pay the tax. The United Press says the Treasury interprets this to mean that all state employes are thus brought within the great, big, happy family of taxpayers. This interpretation doubtless includes county and municipal help as well. For convenience, it is customary to refer to the whole exempt class as state employes.

Senator Green apparently favors some sort of amnesty as to arrears and interest, and it is reported that the Treasury does not intend to be harsh. That is nice of the Treasury, but habitual taxpayers will naturally wonder when this feeling of sweetness first came over the catchpolls and whether it will benefit other classes.

* * *

The recipients of this proposed grace are mainly politicians. They include, of course, great numbers of fairly diligent, obscure employes who receive low salaries and would suffer much to scratch up the money for back taxes. But they include, also, thousands of judges, commissioners, mayors, sheriffs and strictly parasitic functionaries who draw big salaries and could pay, if pursued, with no worse hardship than other citizens suffer from strict interpretation of the law.

There is never any evidence that a private citizen's distress touches the heart of the Treasury in similar circumstances, and, strictly speaking, it shouldn't. But, strictly speaking, the Treasury is entitled to its pound of flesh from the public employes, little and big.

The amnesty would amount to a sizable cash gift to thousands of well-to-do officials and former officials of the states and their subdivisions, including too many who never did a lick of work to earn their public pay and used their official powers to extort fortunes through the sale of insurance, concrete, brick and tile, office supplies, saloon materials and dance tickets.

* * *

It is touching to read of Senator Green's solicitude for the mental peace and economic security of the political officeholder and to hear that the Treasury does not intend to be harsh.

It seems impossible that this can be the same Treasury which slaps assessments on private citizens admittedly in excess of any legitimate tax to guarantee the payment of disputed items which may be decided in the taxpayer's favor after legal proceedings more costly than the claims themselves. And it almost defies belief that this humane bureau, with the gentle sympathy for politicians, can be the same which forbids a distressed widow to dispose of her late husband's old shoes, hats and golf sticks until an official second-hand dealer can appraise them as high as the law allows, in an effort to throw the estate into higher brackets and collect on these valueless relics more than they cost new.

It is said the Treasury shrinks from detailed accountancy and litigation in these cases, including those of well-to-do politicians. But taxpayers in other classes have lived under the rule that the Treasury will spend 75 cents for accountancy and lawyers to get back $1 in taxes. The same rule would yield at least 25 per cent for the politicians' dues as profit and, more important, would put them in the habit of making returns—an experience which would be good for their citizenship.

Hollywood Speaks—

By ROBBIN COONS

The co-stars are Katharine Hepburn and Cary Grant, here involved in an exchange of ideas that is purposely not so brittly clever as it was in Philip Barry's original stage play and in the Harding film version. Its jibes at vast wealth, are as sharp as ever, but leavened occasionally — with the perspective of eight years which have not been too rich for the majority of customers—by admissions that money, while not all-important, is pretty nice.

Grant is the everyday fellow who falls for the daughter (Doris Nolan) of a Croesus (Henry Kolker). Grant learns about the relationship after they're engaged, but having just cleaned up a tidy sum himself it is his idea to take a long vacation while he's young enough to enjoy it, return later to make more money. The girl and her father can't see that view, think life is for making millions and more of them, but the boy is abetted by his prospective sister-in-law (Miss Hepburn). In the final scenes, faced with a choice between the fiancee's point of view and his own, he chooses—well, K. Hepburn is his co-star. The role, played with a slightly pixilated grace, is probably Hepburn's best—at any rate since "Little Women." George Cukor directed, and all the supporting players (Lew Ayres, Edward Everett Horton, Binnie Barnes, Jean Dixon, and Henry Daniell) distinguish themselves, with Ayres especially surprising as the stewing, stewed young brother.

Enjoyable Hokum.

"Little Miss Thoroughbred" is one of those pictures that, considered artistically, amount to little more than hokum tried and true. Considered otherwise, it's quite enjoyable if you like a good sentimental cry.

It's about an orphan child who annexes as dream-daddy a tough gambler (John Litel) and soon finds herself a lucky mascot for the horserace meanderings of Litel, Ann Sheridan and Frank McHugh. Reminiscent in some respects of "Little Miss Marker," the picture that spurted Shirley Temple to fame, this film has 5-year-old Janet Chapman as its principal charm, and may do the same for the new tyke.

Not pretty, but plenty cute and improving in performance as the film unreels, little Miss Chapman can be counted a Shirley of the future. John Farrow directed.

Some Good Acting.

"Kidnaped"—from the Robert Louis Stevenson story—is happier on the screen than "Ebb Tide," the other recent Stevenson tale in celluloid. But the total effect, for all its moments of interest, is diffuse and weak, and although it has elements—arising from Scottish rebellion against English rule mainly—that should be exciting, the occasional excitement peters out.

There is, however, fine production, and good performances by Warner Baxter, Freddie Bartholomew, and Miles Mander (as David Balfour's scheming uncle). The new girl, Arleen Whelan, is appealing and may be rated a potential "find"—although not on this little-to-do performance. Alfred Werker directed.

MISSIONARY SPEAKS, OFFICERS INSTALLED

Central M. E. Church Societies Have Regular Monthly Meetings; China Discussion Topic; Future Events Scheduled.

MRS. CHARLES MATTI, returned missionary from China, was the guest speaker yesterday when members of both the Women's Home and Foreign Missionary societies and the Aid society of the Central Methodist Episcopal church held their regular monthly meetings. Mrs. Matti spoke on "Effect of War on Christians In China."

The Foreign society met first with Mrs. E. C. Jenkins, president, in charge and Mrs. Robert Cassidy conducting the worship service on the topic "Go Ye and Preach."

Luncheon was served at noon with Mrs. M. W. Stretch serving as hostess following which the Home society installed officers for the coming year. Mrs. W. S. Valmore, president, was in charge and Rev. Paul Hollingshead, pastor of the church, conducted the service.

* * *

The new officers are Mrs. L. F. Rondel, president; Mrs. Keith Frary, first vice president; Mrs. Valmore, second vice president; Mrs. C. S. Critchfield, corresponding secretary; Miss Maude Swearingen, recording secretary; Mrs. Robert Lamb, membership secretary; Mrs. J. J. Dunn, supply secretary; Mrs. A. F. Ramsey, literature secretary; Mrs. Ruth Orcutt, spiritual life secretary; Mrs. C. E. Berger, Christian citizenship secretary; Mrs. D. C. Patterson, Mothers' Jewels, Mrs. George Ganyard, Home Guards, and Miss Maud Cunningham, Queen Esther's circle.

The program was opened with the worship service presented by Mrs. W. H. Burneson and Mrs. Ramsey gave th high points from the Women's Home Missions. "Temperance" was discussed by Mrs. C. D. Appleman and Mrs. Howard N. Keene spoke on "Peace." A paper, "Indian Graphic Art," was read by Mrs. J. C. Stout.

* * *

It was planned during the meetings to give a birthday party Tuesday evening in honor of Rev. D. B. Millar who will be celebrating his 98th birthday June 7. Plans were also made for all the women of the church to attend a picnic which will be held June 9 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. I. R. Young, Nevada, former members of the church.

Next Wednesday afternoon Mrs. H. D. Bishop and Mrs. Patterson will entertain at the annual mite box party for members of the Mothers' Jewels and the Little Light Bearers. Plans for a tour of gardens and a flower show in July were also discussed.

Discipline Necessary For Woman

By VIRGINIA LEE

My psychologist friend claims that children are not being brought up with correct ideas of self-restraint and responsibility. And when I read a letter like the following, I heartily agree with him, at least SOME grown-ups who have married and taken the burdens as well as the joys of that state seem to have no idea that they owe anything to their mates or have any responsibilities toward them.

"DEAR MISS LEE: I read your column and want you to help me decide what to do. As I am married I shouldn't write this. I met a fellow and for the last two years he has been coming to my home. He claims he likes me and wishes he had met me first.

"I met him one night at my mother's, and he asked me to go some place with him and I went. When he brought me home he kissed me good night. Since that night I can't forget him. Lately he hasn't been around, and he told me it was because of me. I wrote him a letter asking him to meet me, but he wouldn't come. I am hurt. I don't know what to think of him. I am not in love with him, but I like him a lot. He tells me he enjoys being with me. My husband knows he likes me. Please tell me what to do.

"JUST LONELY."

I wonder whether you will do what I tell you? Of course it is to tell yourself that you are a married woman and can have nothing to do with single men. This man shows good sense by not coming where you are. Something must be lacking in your bringing up if you think it is all right to allow other men than your husband to take you out and to kiss you. Is that your idea of the way a married woman should act? I hope not.

You probably would howl to high heaven if your husband were taking other girls out and kissing them; and when your children—if you have them—are grown, you will be awfully shocked if they do such things Better discipline yourself to set them a good example, my dear Don't be a rattlebrain.

But don't say you love your husband, but you do mention that you are not in love with this man. You only want to go with him for a thrill, I suppose. Well, that kind of thrill very often ends in tragedy, so better not encourage it. The other day I read of a woman who advocated spanking for women who act as you are doing.

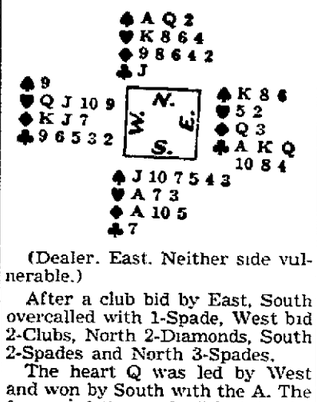
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

TIMING MISUNDERSTOOD

No phase of play is more misunderstood by average players than timing Sometimes you see a defender help set up a suit for declarer before knocking at a side entry. And right on top of it the declarer will fail to recognize the opportunity presented to him, but will try a futile finesse and thus give the other defender a chance to remove the invaluable entry.



(Dealer. East. Neither side vulnerable.)

After a club bid by East, South overcalled with 1-Spade, West bid 2-Clubs, North 2-Diamonds, South 2-Spades and North 3-Spades.

The heart Q was led by West and won by South with the A. The finesse of the spade J lost to the K. East after cashing a club trick switched to the diamond Q. South allowed this to hold and when the diamond 3 followed, made the mistake of finessing the diamond 10 to West. The heart K was now knocked out of the dummy and when the two outstanding spades were drawn there was no entry to set up the diamonds, as the A blocked the hand.

East should not have returned a diamond while the dummy held the dangerous entry of the heart K, but since he did South could have taken advantage of the mistake and played the diamond A on the second round After drawing trumps he could have given up a diamond to West, which would have cleared the suit while an entry remained

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

If ever small boys were avenged for an offense given them, Junior was that lad, I told myself, as Roderick's choking sobs and shrill pleas to Bill not to tell of his letter to Betty Gibbs filled the air.

Roderick's last sentence was highly illuminative. "You promised you wouldn't" he had shouted at Bill. I knew in that moment that Bill, always a boy of his word, never had meant to read the letter, but had used it as a weapon to make Roderick break into a storm of sobs even greater than that for which he had been taunting Junior with the epithets of "cry baby" and "sissy" only a moment before.

"I promised I wouldn't as long as you behaved yourself," Bill said judicially. "You certainly have been misbehaving yourself sufficiently in the last few minutes to deserve hearing that letter read not only to Junior but the entire family. However, you'll notice I have not read it, yet."

"Aren't you going to?" Roderick demanded, his sobs ceasing, his manner hopeful.

"That depends on you," his brother said. "But it doesn't matter now. Junior and I've found out what we've suspected all along. You aren't a big boy yet. You have to blubber and bawl when you're scared, just as if you were a baby."

I shot a quick look at my young son to see his reaction to Roderick's humiliation. He would have been pardoned, I knew, for a triumphant look. But, instead, he was looking at his shoes, and I guessed that he was horribly embarrassed by the sudden turn of events.

Was Intentional.

Roderick's face was a contorted mask of humiliation. But there was relief in his eyes, also a sudden, shrewd questioning.

"Look here!" he said. "Did you pull this stunt on purpose to make me cry because I was riding Junior?"

Bill's mouth stretched into a grin.

"You're smarter than I thought you were, little brother," he said. "Trot right to the head of the class. That's just exactly why I did it. Did you ever know me to betray any of your little secrets before?"

"No," Roderick acknowledged, and added resentfully.

"But I don't think this was fair. Junior won't ever forget this. He'll be at me all the time now about it."

My young son raised his head proudly.

"That's where you've got another guess coming," he said. "What do I care about your 'ole letter? You'll never hear me say a word about it if we both live to be a thousand years old. Bill's given me all I want. You won't ever be calling me cry baby and sissy again, I'm thinking"

Shake and Make Up.

Roderick choked up again, but this time, to my delight, there was no anger in his sobs. He advanced a step toward Junior and held out his hand in the fashion they have been taught upon occasions of victories for either in their athletic games.

"I wouldn't be doing that, anyway, after that promise of yours," he said manfully. "I've been an awful heel, Junior, old top, and I'm awful sorry. Will you shake hands?"

Junior's hand went out swiftly.

"You bet!" he said. "Don't let's think anything more about it."

"Okay!" Roderick replied, and Bill put a compelling hand on his shoulder.

"That's a good end to this whole business," he said, "but you haven't had your shower yet, and dinner will be ready pretty soon."

He "shooed" Roderick back to my door and then went on down the stairs. Katherine and I waited only until Junior had gone back into Dicky's room and closed the door before coming out of our hiding place.

"We heard more than we bargained for," she said. "I must get back to Faith. I suppose you're going to Junior."

HOROSCOPE

For Saturday, June 4.

THIS SHOLLD be an acuve day, according to the lunar transits, but not an entirely propitious one. While new undertakings may look promising, there may not be lucrative returns at the present time. There may be delays and postponements, together with financial problems. Speculation is hazardous; avoid risks.

If This Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year in which the energies may be under fine impetus for action and constructive work, but the returns may not correspond with the effort put forth. There may be impediments and delays, but hazards in the use of funds, especially in speculative enterprises. Diligence and prudence may save the day.

A child born on this day may be energetic and ambitious, with much practical talent, but it may meet with obstacles and delays in accomplishing its ambitions. It may have rather fluctuating financial experiences.

Everybody form a circle, run to the center and bow. Now place right elbow in palm of left hand and, with right wrist limp, wave pointed index finger as you chant:

"When you meet the president,
Wave a hand with elbow bent."
